Smashing Space Success

By AL ROSSITER Jr.
SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 7's three astronauts rode a "pink cloud" of fire back to earth today, triumphantly ending the 11-day space flight that shattered the barriers between man and the moon.

Walter Schirra, Donn Eisele and Walt Cunningham, apparently unshaken by an upside-down splashdown in the Atlantic and a frantic 15-minute search to find them, strode onto the deck of the carrier Essex at 8:08 a.m. EDT.

Their 11-day voyage 163 times around earth was America's most successful space flight. It virtually assured clearance for Apollo 8's Dec. 21 launch on a journey around the moon.

"We're riding a pink cloud," Schirra joyously cried as the spaceship's hurtling re-entry into the atmosphere built a ball of flame around its blunt heat shield.

Plans Retirement

It was the third, and probably final, space voyage for the 45-year-old Schirra, commander of Apollo 7 who plans retirement from flight. It was the first trip for Eisele, 38, the navigator, and Cunningham, 36, the systems engineer.

Wobbling under their first taste of earth gravity since they blasted off from Cape Kennedy Oct. 11, the astronauts saluted proudly as they stepped off the helicopter that plucked them from the Atlantic.

The Apollo 7 astronauts received telephoned congratulations on the deck of this recovery carrier today on the "triumph" of their spaceflight.

"In this universal gladness there is the making for human partnership for space technology and science which will serve as instruments for man's peace in the world," President Johnson said.

"Our fellow countrymen are happy to welcome you home... we salute the three of you as well as the thousands of your space team led by Mr. (James) Webb and others in great admiration and affection."

"And when you have finished your debriefings Mrs. Johnson and I hope to receive you and talk to you about your experiences."

"Thank you very much, Mr. President," replied spacecraft commander Walter Schirra. "It is our pleasure and honor."

Then he turned the microphone over to astronauts Donn Eisele and Walt Cunningham, who each said, "Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Johnson watched the Apollo splashdown and recovery in his family quarters at the White House and about an hour and half later called the astronauts aboard the Essex. He spoke to them on a radio hookup from the cabinet room.

Three helicopters searched frantically through mist and drizzling rain for the spacecraft, its radio beacon blocked by its upside-down landing. The astronauts apparently peeled off their space suits in the bobbing spacecraft. When swimmers put the flotation pad around it, they emerged in their white coveralls to be hoisted up to the copter. Schirra and his crew brought back to earth proof that the new Apollo series, America's first three-man spaceships, are capable of making the voyage to the moon, three or four days from the safety of earth, and coming back.

The 4.5-million-mile earth-orbit trip gave Apollo 7 a string of successes. The astronauts apparently peeled off

Thieu Not Opposed To Bombing Halt

SAIGON (UPI)—An official spokesman for South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu said today Thieu "does not oppose" a conditional halt to the bombing of North Vietnam. It marked a major softening of Saigon's position.

Thieu has led at least four conferences since last Wednesday with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, who was believed trying to win Thieu's approval of a reported U.S. offer to end the bombing in return for major concessions from Hanoi.

The South Vietnamese president has firmly opposed the halt in belief it would aid North Vietnamese efforts to win South Vietnam by force. He also has resisted suggestions the National Liberation Front (NLF) political branch of the Viet Cong, join the Paris Vietnam talks along with South Vietnam.

The surprise announcement was issued by Thieu's press office to newsmen and simultaneously broadcast over Vietnamese television and radio.

The president himself did not appear or speak.

It came as reports circulated through many capitals of the world that the United States has made a major new peace proposal to the Hanoi government which would include a full cessation of the bombing and that the Americans are awaiting a North Vietnamese reply.

It was generally believed the reply might come Wednesday in Paris at the weekly meeting between U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators, but there was no confirmation. This form of speculation began Monday when the Hanoi delegation cancelled a regular press briefing.

Meanwhile Communist artillery today smashed a U.S. Marine base children's hospital, killing at least six persons including three patients.

UPI correspondent Perry Young, at the Leatherneck base of Dong Ha just below the North-South Vietnam border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), said at least 25 shells exploded around the headquarters of the Marine 3rd Division.

Young said the South Vietnamese children's hospital, caring for the smallest refugees from North Vietnamese invasion action, took direct hits. Donations from individual Marines had built the hospital.

Besides the three children killed, an unknown number of additional patients suffered wounds, he said.

Young said three Americans were killed and at least 15 wounded in the Reds' first attack in weeks against the biggest of U.S. bases below the DMZ.

Just above the DMZ, an 11th day of monsoon rains blunted an attack by hundreds of U.S. jets against North Vietnam's southern panhandle military spokesmen said today. One plane was downed.

The spokesmen said the storms muddled the panhandle supply road and so limited Communist traffic that U.S. pilots on 114 missions reported hitting only two trucks in Monday's raiding.

Press Search for Killer Of East Kingston Hunter

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

Robert Daniel Gallo, 23 of East Kingston was struck on the head with a blunt instrument and shot to death sometime Sunday afternoon while he was hunting in a swampy area near his home.

These were the conclusions reached today by Kingston state police investigators and Coroner William S. Keyser following an autopsy.

Two .22 caliber rifle slugs were removed from the brain and one from under the right arm pit, the autopsy revealed.

Coroner Keyser issued a verdict of homicide and said death was due to a laceration of the brain by gunshot wounds and a skull fracture.

BCI Senior Investigator Edward Shannon of Kingston state police said the points of entry of the head shots were an inch apart. He noted there was no skin laceration on the forehead where Gallo was struck, probably by the barrel or the butt of a rifle or shotgun. Authorities are still searching for the murder weapon and also the Fox double-barreled 12-gauge shotgun carried by Gallo on his hunting jaunt. His olive drab gun belt with shotgun shells was also reported missing by state police.

Investigator Shannon said Gallo's hunting license number patch was found on the ground about 40 feet away from the body.

Earlier in the investigation two .22 caliber shell casings were found a short distance from the body by Sheriff's Deputy Gerald Miller. Further investigation revealed these were the shells from a pistol fired by one of the searchers to attract attention when the body was discovered.

Gallo was the object of a wide search by more than 200 volunteers when he was reported missing at about 3 p.m. Sunday. The body was discovered 7:20 a.m. Monday about a half-mile to the rear of the victim's home, East Kingston Fire Chief Thomas Clausi, who directed the search said the body was found by three members of the fire company, Chris Gallo, a cousin of the victim, and Patrick Clausi and James Costello. Volunteers from 12 area fire companies, employees of Hudson Cement Company, state police and sheriff's deputies participated in the search. Sgt. Warren Swarthout was in charge of the Sheriff's Department detail. Major John Monahan of state police headquarters, Middletown was in charge of troopers at the scene.

The victim was wearing a tan hunting jacket, blue trousers and a red hunting hat and a shotgun shell ammunition belt.

He reportedly was carrying his new automatic shotgun. Gallo was the owner and operator of Bob's Barber Shop, Broadway, Port Ewen. He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gallo at Gallo Lane, East Kingston. He was a member of East Kingston Fire Company and East Kingston Rod and Gun Club.

SPECIAL FLAG—A flag that flew over the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., was raised yesterday afternoon at Ulster County Community College to commemorate the first anniversary of the dedication of the college's Stone Ridge campus. Participating in the ceremony were (L-R) Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature; Mrs. George Bushnell, a member of the college board of trustees; Dr. George B. Erbstein, college president and James Kinns, president of the Student Government Organization. The flag was given to the college by U.S. Senator Jacob J. Javits, who was principal speaker at the dedication Oct. 21, 1967. Others who took part in Monday's festivities were John C. Quimby, chairman of the board of trustees and Dr. John F. Park, chairman of the faculty organization at the UCCO. In his brief address Quimby made reference to the college's building program now underway. He noted that construction work is now in progress on the engineering and technology building slated for completion next September. (Freeman photo by Powell)

Water, Street Employees

Ellenville Ratifies Contract

By CHARLES BERMFOHL

The Ellenville Village Board last night announced it had ratified a contract with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers covering employees of the water and street departments.

The contract calls for an eight per cent wage increase for all 12 workers in both departments.

The union did, however, accept an "open shop" provision and it also agreed to a village demand whereby department employees can be ordered to work in capacities other than those they have been officially assigned to.

The open shop provision leaves it up to the employee whether to join the labor organization. He may also leave the union whenever he decides.

The lowest starting salary for a laborer will be $2.05 per hour. It will go up to $2.21 per hour after a 30 day "trial period."

Top salary for sewage treatment operator will be $2.70 per hour.

11 Legal Holidays

Other provisions in the contract guarantees 11 legal holidays and a union hospitalization plan which includes Blue Cross and Blue Shield and a dental program.

As for sick leave, a man with one to five years service will lose the first three days, receive the next two days at full pay, followed by the next week at half pay.

An employee with from six to 10 years seniority will lose the first two days, receive full pay for the next three days, then receive half pay for the next three weeks of his illness.

Over 10 years, an employee will lose only one day's pay, followed by four days at full pay and then half pay for the next three weeks.

These will be two weeks vacation at full pay following one year of service and three weeks vacation after 15 years service.

For grievance procedures, the employee will go to his shop steward rather than his department head.

The village also must set up the mechanics for union dues under the requirements of the state's Taylor Law.

In other action during the unusually short meeting, it was announced that cleanup week will be from Nov. 12 to 15.

The village will accept bids for a new police car at the regular board meeting on Nov. 4, the day before the general election.

There was some discussion on the value of having one way streets in the village.

Attorney Alex Nirenberg pointed out that the American Automobile Association had twice recommended one way streets for the village to aid the traffic flow.

Mayor Eugene Glusker said that "The argument will become academic if Route 209 is realigned."

The mayor also said that a delegation of businessmen "strongly opposed" the plan.

Curfew Ordered

It was further announced during the one hour regular conclave that there would be a curfew on the nights of Oct. 30 and 31.

Children and teenagers will not be allowed on the streets of the village after 9 p. m. on the 30th and after 10 p. m. on the 31st.

Ellenville Housing Authority Chairman Gordon Kent said that the newly created agency met with the Monticello Housing Authority.

He also said that the organization was continuing to hold familiarization meetings to educate the members in the building codes.

The board agreed to accept an expense sheet from Village Clerk Lillian Finklestein after she returns from a Nov. 17 Municipal Clerk's Institute meeting in Syracuse.

In other Ellenville news, Mayor Glusker held The Freeman that one possible applicant for the village manager position has accepted another job.

"We have to start looking all over again," the mayor said.

Glusker indicated that competition in the field was high and he stated that the village was applying to the International City Manager's Association for applicants.

The mayor had previously said that the former manager, John Geist, had resigned because he had been informed that he was not entirely acceptable to the village board.

SPLASHDOWN—The first manned United States spacecraft to re-enter the earth's atmosphere in almost two years, landed in the West Atlantic early today. (UPI)

Astro Wives Up Early Too

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — In the quiet, tree-lined communities of Timber Cove, El Lago and Nassau Bay, the lights in three homes came on long before dawn today. The man of the house was returning from space.

For the wives of Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter Cunningham, the long, tense wait was nearly over. What remained now were the last moments of Apollo 7's saga in space, the most critical moments since launch 11 days ago.

Alarms at 5 A. M.

The wives—Jo Schirra, Harriet Eisele and Lo Ella Cunningham—set their alarms for 5 a. m. Then they turned up the volume on the receivers on which they could hear the high points of re-entry: the retrofire that slowed the spacecraft, the heart-thumping moment when the ship's huge parachutes billowed in the sky, the splash-down and word that their men were safe.

Mrs. Eisele went to the store Monday and returned with two boxes of cigars for a reason she didn't disclose. A neighbor came by with a couple of bottles of champagne—that reason was obvious.

Jon Eisele celebrated his fourth birthday with a party and he got five cakes. He enhanced his reputation as the cut-up among the Apollo 7 families by bringing out one of the cakes, setting it atop a halloween pumpkin and digging his tiny fingers in it.

Melinda Eisele, the oldest of the astronaut's three children, told a photographer that she had ambivalent feelings about her daddy's return. Melinda, 14, plays clarinet in the Clear Creek High School band and Friday is homecoming day. It also is tentatively the homecoming for her father. Melinda left no doubt which homecoming she looks forward to the most—but it was a choice between the two big events.

This Was Hardest

Mrs. Schirra, who has undergone the worry of a husband in space twice before, said this mission was the hardest—because of the long time since the last manned space flight. But it also was Wally's last. He has announced he is retiring from the program.

During her husband's absence, Mrs. Schirra had the almost constant companionship of other astronauts' wives—especially the ones who were among the original seven.

Two of her most frequent companions were Mrs. John Cooper and Mrs. Donald K. "Deke" Slayton, wife of the astronaut boss.

Her time was also filled with visits from her sister and mother. The sister, Mrs. Jane Pickett of Arlington, Va., was in Houston the first few days. Then her mother, Mrs. James Holloway, Virginia Beach, Va., came to stay through Wally's return.

Of all the Apollo 7 wives, Ella Cunningham had the fewest visitors. Cunningham's brother Bill, an Alaskan bush pilot, arrived with his wife Betty in midweek. And Mrs. Cunningham's long-time friend, Mrs. Lynda Johnson, stayed at the home.

Mrs. Cunningham and their two children were at Cape Kennedy for the launching Oct. 11—the only family to make the trip from Houston. She went to the Mission Control center twice to watch some of the television shows from the spacecraft.

The wives got together at least twice. Once was at a football game at the Astrodome, watching the New York Jets beat the Houston Oilers 20-14. The other was one early morning to see the spacecraft pass overhead—ship pilot, arrived with his wife Bet-more than 100 miles away.

No Easy Decision on the Moon Flight

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With 100 per cent of their flight objectives achieved, Apollo 7 astronauts handed space agency planners enough data to consider launching the next three Apollo spacemen around the moon at Christmas time.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said no final decision will be made until mid-November, after results of Apollo 7's 11-day mission are studied.

But thanks to Apollo 7 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr., Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham, a circumlunar assignment for the Apollo 8 crew remains a strong possibility.

Despite Apollo 7's achievements, the decision whether to send the Apollo 8 pilots, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders, around the moon will not come easy.

Once astronauts start heading for the moon, there is no chance for them to get back to earth for more than seven days—the amount of time it takes to fly to the moon and back. Apollo engines are not powerful enough for the crew to turn around before reaching the moon, if something goes wrong.

In the 11-day flight, Navy Capt. Schirra, Air Force Maj. Eisele and Cunningham, a civilian, proved that Apollo's life-support systems can keep three men alive long enough for a round trip to the moon.

They showed that the craft's main engine can be fired for short steering maneuvers and long durations, as will be done to kick Apollo spaceships into orbit around the moon and back to earth. Their computer-driven guid-

Big Mail Call For Spacemen

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Mountains of mail will greet the Apollo 7 astronauts when they return to earth-bound duty here.

Space agency spokesmen said they were still busy Monday counting and sorting the mail received here and at Cape Kennedy, Fla., in response to the three astronauts' nationally televised plea to "Keep those cards and letters coming."

It was estimated that more than 3,000 letters have filled Space Center mailboxes. Upwards of 500 have been received at Cape Kennedy, and more than 50 telegrams also are waiting to be read.

Apollo 7 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr., Walter Cunningham and Donn F. Eisele asked for the mail during one of their early Walt, Wally and Donn telecasts.

"Hi! We're going around in circles rooting for you guys," said one letter.

A fourth grader named Kenneth from Worth, Ill., had these thoughts in his letter:

"Dear astronauts, we all hope you the best of luck in your dangerous (sic) trip if you have some extra time I wish you could answer this letter with a few samepills (sic) like the food you eat out there and a picture showing the suit on you and like on commercials do you have any food pills. . ."

Astronaut Alan B. Sheppard Jr., captain of the astronaut team, opened a few of the letters addressed generally to "Apollo 7," but said he considered the rest of the mail personal and meant only for the Apollo 7 trio.

"Here's one of the cards you asked for," wrote an 11-year-old boy from McKeesport, Pa. "I watched you on TV. It is very exciting. I sure wish all 3 of you good luck. God speed and a safe return to home base."

The space agency received a big envelope with 26 letters from the second grade of an elementary school in Palm Bay, Fla. An elementary school in Worth, Ill., sent 22 letters.

"The show was great. Keep those pictures coming. God bless you all," wrote an adult from Streetsboro, Ohio.

Apollo 7 Comes Back With Lots of Goodies

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 7 brought home these space records today:

— Most man hours in space by one crew: 780 hours 27 minutes. Old record: 661 hours 10 minutes by Gemini 7 in 1965.

— Total time for all U.S. manned space flights rose to 2,774 hours 10 minutes, compared to 534 hours 1 minute for the Soviet Union.

— Most powerful engine ever fired by a man-in-space crew: 20,500 pounds on the Apollo 7 engine. Old record: 16,000 pounds by several Gemini crews.

— First man to fly three times in space: Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr.

— First U.S. three-man spaceship. The Soviet's Voskhod 1 also had three men.

— First live television from a U.S. spaceship. The Russians have had live television on several flights.

— Second longest man-in-space flight: 260 hours 9 minutes. Record is 330 hours 35

2 New Yorkers In on Recovery Of Space Capsule

ATLANTIC RECOVERY AREA (UPI)—Two of the three swimmers who plunged into the waters of the Atlantic Ocean to greet the Apollo astronauts are from New York State.

They were Navy Seaman Hunter Grimes of Alexandria Bay, Jefferson County and Gunners Mate 3C Joseph Olt Jr., of New Hyde Park, L.I.

Both were aboard the helicopter "recovery three." The third swimmer was Machinists Mate 2C Harold Lapping of Perkassie, Pa.

The trio placed the flotation ring around the spacecraft and opened the hatch. The astronauts were then hoisted 60 feet up into a helicopter in a bird-cage-like recovery apparatus.

AT CLEAN AIR MEETING—Ulster County's assembly candidates took part in a panel discussion and answered questions pertaining to air pollution problems. The event took place at a meeting of the Ulster County Citizens for Clean Air Committee meeting held at the Court House. Seated (L-R), Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democratic candidate; George Majestic, Liberal candidate. Standing, (L-R), David Fletcher, club president and H. Clark Bell, Republican-Conservative candidate. (Freeman photo by Powell)

Assembly Candidates Discuss Area Air Pollution Menace

By LYNN MULVANEY

All acutely aware of the air pollution menace, Ulster County's three assembly candidates took part in a panel discussion last night at a meeting of the Ulster County Citizens for Clean Air.

One of the founders of the committee, Liberal candidate George Majestic told of air pollution controls that he feels local industry has but won't use. He called on the people to continue their fight for enforcement of present laws on a local level and promised his continued help in this area.

Majestic said he felt filing bills in Albany was practically to no avail considering only 1,000 of 13,000 were passed last year.

H. Clark Bell, Republican-Conservative candidate, proposed that the problem be attacked on three fronts—automotive, industrial and municipal. He suggested abatement devices for automobiles, trucks, buses and development of electric and atomic powered vehicles. He suggests encouragement of abatement tax write-offs for industry that complies with uses of devices and he advocates creation of a system of state and matching funds for municipalities.

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democrat and Kingston surgeon described health and life expectancy effects of a person exposed to air pollution. He said the Air Pollution Control Board has made a meaningful attempt at solutions but he doesn't feel that there are enough teeth in the laws.

Gorman called for "enforcement coupled with education," and said he felt his medical background would allow him to help in many areas of legislation undertaken in Albany.

Vietnam War Is Big Debate Topic

The Vietnam issue was tackled last night by three 28th District congressional candidates—Democrat John S. Dyson, Liberal Peter Kane Dufault and Republican Hamilton Fish Jr., speaking in a Poughkeepsie debate.

Dyson called for "an active foreign policy, which in the words of the late President Kennedy, will make the world safe for diversity."

Fish charged that the Democratic administration's "foreign adventures started with the Bay of Pigs and has gone steadily downhill ever since to Vietnam and the Pueblo."

Dufault blamed the Vietnam War as "largely responsible for the unrest and moral breakdown in the U.S.A. We have suffered in New York, in Washington, in Poughkeepsie and even in Millbrook, as staggering a blow to what our self-image as a nation used to be, as Vietnam has suffered from the napalm and the cluster bomb we have rained upon it."

Dyson characterized public opinion of the war as "angry, confused and frustrated. He called the American involvement in the war "a major foreign policy blunder in American diplomatic history. Our over-commitment in Vietnam has weakened our position in the world and has disrupted our internal progress. We must find a solution to this—the most crucial issue facing our nation today."

Dyson reiterated the seven-point peace proposal he put forth in July and concluded that the major responsibility of the war should be transferred to the South Vietnamese Army.

Fish, who has in the past called for a bombing halt also, blamed the Democrats saying, "When Eisenhower left office, Cuba was not a Soviet stronghold. There was no Berlin Wall. France was an effective part of NATO and our Mid-Eastern policy was effectively keeping the Soviets out of the Mediterranean."

"When you vote in November, remember Johnson-Humphrey solemnly promise there would be no land war in Southeast Asia. Remember when you vote, those broken promises have cost us more than 30,000 dead, 200,000 wounded and over $110 billion dollars spent."

Dufault, referring to the fact that "we are in a war never declared by Congress," said, "We have been cut adrift from our own basic principles, our own charter, which 'should' be sacred, but evidently is not. But if it is not, then nothing is. And in a society where nothing is sacred, and where recourse to illegal violence is routine, there is no argument against anti-social behavior crime and dope addiction, riots and acts of violence, except the argument of superior repressive forces."

Gets AFL-CIO Endorsement

Gorman Chides Opponent

Dr. Gerard P. Gorman, Democratic Assembly candidate declared today, "After all the ammunition I have given H. Clark Bell, he has the gall not to attack me on my past actions, not my plans to help this county, not my views on the people's needs, but on the basis of my political party."

Bell, his Republican opponent, said earlier this week that "It would not be to the best interest of Ulster County voters to elect a Democrat to the New York State Assembly because the present large bloc of Democrats in the Assembly are from New York City's metropolitan area and they favor the city at the expense of upstate New York."

Bell contended that Gorman, as the Democratic candidate and County Democratic Party chairman would be committed to support the Democratic power bloc in Albany.

Gorman said, "For weeks now I have been offering suggestions, plans, ideas on how to rid Ulster County of its deficiencies, its dangerous roadways, inadequate water-sewer facilities, hazardous air and water problems facing Ulster?" Dr. Gorman said, "All the time I have been citing the need to attract industry to Ulster, to relieve our crushing tax burdens and raise the standards of our salaried workers, Bell spent his time announcing the appointment of another campaign coordinator, or announcing the drinking of another cup of coffee."

The State Assembly candidate went on, "Bell has done his maneuvering in the corners long enough, and when he finally jabs his head out of the darkness he mouths the meaningless, perhaps troubled words of a candidate who realizes that the only chance he has of getting elected is to hang on the coattails of his own political party."

Gorman said, "What is ironic is that this man, who for all of his adult political life denied his own party his support, is now hoping to be dragged into office by virtue of the fact that Ulster County has a more than two-to-one Republican enrollment."

The doctor went on to say, "When Bell made one, just one important suggestion, one helpful statement, on exploratory speech on the

Conservatives were endorsed by the State AFL-CIO."

Dr. Gorman added, "I am asking the voters, the taxpayers, the workers and farmers to spend a few minutes, because that is all it will take, to examine all that Clark Bell has done or said about Ulster."

The surgeon also said, "Look also at Bell's record at the Constitutional Convention. It's easy to see why not one of his suggestions was voted out of committee."

Gorman concluded by saying, "I realize that I have an uphill battle. As a Democrat the tough climb is always waiting in Ulster County. I do urge every voter, however, to compare the two men, Bell and myself, because that State Assembly post is for a long two years."

It was also announced today that the more than two million-member New York State AFL-CIO has endorsed Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democratic candidate for the State Assembly.

Dr. Gorman, upon learning of the endorsement, said, "Naturally I welcome the endorsement, but what particularly pleases me is the fact that it was truly a bi-partisan endorsement. Democrats, and

Republicans, Liberals, and

Conservatives were endorsed by the State AFL-CIO."

Taking his opponent to task for what he called "outright deceit and complete disregard for the truth," Thomas Mayone, GOP candidate for sheriff, issued an open statement today to Sheriff William Martin:

"For three years you have had free reign in the management of one of the most important departments in this county. Not only have you failed to give the citizens first rate law enforcement, but you have slyly covered your mistakes and shortcomings by using outright deceit and complete disregard for the truth."

"To begin, I wish to cite your words on a local radio interview last Thursday. You did admit that your present narcotic enforcement program is weak, but how could you have the audacity to explain this away by blaming it on others. You claimed that you requested funds in your budget and were turned down by the county leg-

Mayone Charges Sheriff With Disregard of Truth

"Sheriff Martin, I have been informed that you never requested extra funds. You also stated that the district attorney has not given you any money for this problem. On checking, I found that you again never made a request for such."

"Secondly, on that same program, you emphasized your support for a new jail. How was it that at a meeting held on Feb. 15, this year, with members of the Ulster County Legislature, you stated that it was too bad that the State Department of Correction had condemned the present structure. You felt that the jail, as it is, would still be adequate, even with its outmoded facilities."

"These are just two instances of your outrageous distortions. More examples will follow," Mayone concluded.

Bad Weather Delays Jackie and Ari's Yacht

ATHENS (AP) — Caroline and John Kennedy headed back to New York and school today, but bad weather still kept their mother's honeymoon yacht tied alongside their new Greek stepfather's island.

The children were expected to leave Athens today for London and possibly spend a day or two there with their mother's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

Where the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Socrates Onassis were headed was their secret. The storm that raged through their wedding Sunday on Scorpio Island kept up through Monday and into Tuesday.

The wedding guests flew to Athens Monday. In addition to 10-year-old Caroline and 7-year-old John, the Radziwills also were accompanied by their young son and daughter.

The homeward-bound group also included the only adult members of the Kennedy family who attended the wedding, two of the late President's sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Also among those departing was the U.S. Secret Service man who had accompanied Mrs. Kennedy to Greece but to whose protection she is no longer entitled since her second marriage.

At the Vatican, an official comment was made on the wedding of the Roman Catholic Mrs. Onassis to a divorced member of the Greek Orthodox Church. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fausto Vallain, the Vatican's press spokesman, declared: "Jacqueline Kennedy has reached the age of reason—that is, to be able to know what she wants. She knew at the moment of her marriage with Onassis what the Catholic Church's law was on marriage with a divorced man."

The church's canon law forbids such marriages for Roman Catholics under penalty of excommunication from the church.

Besieged Gotham Mayor Appeals to Teachers, Firm on Pacts

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city today faced the greatest municipal labor crisis in its history with its 1.1 million pupil public school system paralyzed by a teachers' strike, its police patrolmen engaged in a work slowdown and its firemen set for their own slowdown.

Besieged by the ranks of organized labor, Mayor John V. Lindsay again called Monday on the teachers' union to end its walkout "for the sake of the city," and told the uniformed services he would not bow to their wage demands.

But if the firemen go through with their slowdown, nearly 90,000 city employees will be engaged in either strikes or job action against the administration by Wednesday.

Lindsay declared he would "stand firm" on earlier agreements with the police and firemen saying that to reopen negotiations would set off a chain reaction among city employees and produce "complete anarchy in labor relations."

2,049 Policemen 'Sick'

During the day police said 2,049 of the 23,000 members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association called in sick while those who reported for work continued to bypass traffic offenders and perform "by the book."

The 10,500-member Uniformed Firefighters Association also voted to reject the city's contract offer and said that on Wednesday firemen would stop performing nonemergency duties.

Rejecting the mayor's plea for a school truce, Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, said the strike would continue until the local board, administrator and principals in a Brooklyn experimental school district were removed.

The walkout, which has already cost 17 of 28 school days from the fall term, stems from the ouster of 80 white teachers in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

Democratic and Republican legislative leaders called on Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state education commissioner, and the state Board of Regents to use their powers to open the schools.

The action came after Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said he would not call a special session of the legislature to deal with the crisis. He said Lindsay has "the power as mayor of the city to handle the situation."

In the Bronx a group of parents and striking teachers sought signatures on petitions asking Rockefeller to remove Lindsay from office. The governor is empowered to do so on charges and after a hearing.

The same general sentiment was expressed by about 3,000 off-duty policemen who picketed outside Lindsay's City Hall office shouting "Lindsay must go!"

In his statement the mayor said: "The people of New York City have the right to expect all police and fire personnel to live up to their oaths of office and discharge their plain duties."

He also said he would be glad to meet with the two unions.

The PBA has rejected a contract offer that would have raised a patrolman's annual base wage of $9,383 to $10,759 over a two-year period.

PBA officials say they will not slow down on crime fighting but have largely suspended writing traffic tickets—a $100,000 a day source of city income—and cut back the midtown Manhattan auto towaway program by 80 per cent.

As to the planned firemen's slowdown, UFA President Michael J. Maye said: "No one is going to get a penny more than the firemen get."

Muskie's Speech at College Interrupted By Woman

BOSTON (UPI)—The young woman in the green dress would not let Edmund S. Muskie finish reading his speech about what the United States should do after the Vietnam War. She wanted him to talk about what the country should do now.

"What about Vietnam! What about Vietnam!" shouted Ellen Miller of Cambridge, Mass., as she squatted on the floor of the Boston College gymnasium where the Democratic vice presidential nominee addressed Monday night some 5,000 students.

Today, the Maine senator stumps in Stamford, New Haven and New Britain, Conn.

"When I finish my message you may come up here and give your message," the tall Muskie said to her, leaning over a lectern on the stage. The girl carried a sign declaring her support of a presidential ticket of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Michigan Rep. John Conyers.

But Miss Miller, who said she was in her 20s, persisted, encouraged by several youths who were with her.

"Well, you'd better come, young lady. I can't continue," he said. His unique way of handling hecklers by letting them have their say began Sept. 25 at Williamsburg, Pa.

She introduced herself and said that concessions should be made to Hanoi by the United States so that the Vietnam War could be ended.

Muskie said the nation's commitment to South Vietnam goes back to 1954. "I do not find it easy to abandon such a commitment," he said. "An abandonment will affect our credibility around the world."

He said, however, he favored a bombing halt.

$8,000 Stolen From O'Brien, Ex-Congressman

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A burglary at the home of former Rep. Leo O'Brien, D-N.Y., netted thieves nearly $8,000 in personal belongings instead of the $6,475 originally reported, police said Monday.

O'Brien, known as the father of Alaskan and Hawaiian statehood for sponsoring bills bringing the two states in the union, is now a columnist for the Albany Times-Union.

He was a bureau chief in Albany for the old International News Service before being elected to the Albany seat. The burglary occurred Friday.

Return Javits to Senate

One sure way to determine a candidate's fitness for the office he seeks is to measure his record against the requirements and demands of that office. In appraising the candidacy of Senator Jacob K. Javits, who is seeking his third term in the United States Senate, we have his record as an objective yardstick.

Running on his public record is not a new experience for Senator Javits. It was his three terms in the House of Representatives and his services as Attorney General of New York State that earned him the Republican Party senatorial nomination in 1956 that was ratified by New York voters. The same was true in 1962 after his first term in the Senate.

Senator Javits' stand on key domestic and foreign issues which tested his courage and conscience shows a creditable record of service not only to the people of New York State but the entire nation.

On civil rights, he has been a leading advocate and sponsor of legislation since he entered public life. This year, he was one of the leaders in the successful fight for enactment of "open housing" legislation.

As a leader in the movement to curb crime and violence, he co-sponsored legislation providing federal funds for the training of policemen and for the improvement of crime prevention techniques. He also is a co-sponsor of legislation that would ban the mail-order sale of rifles, in addition to hand guns and require registration of all firearms and the licensing of all owners of firearms.

He also has sponsored a number of key educational programs, including the higher education student local program and the Teacher Corps, which he co-sponsored.

Helping to solve dairy problems, he favored measures to safeguard New York's dairy farming industry as well as research to improve dairy products.

As a deterrent to inflation, Senator Javits supported the 10 per cent surcharge, but succeeded in adding an amendment calling for tax reforms to more equitably spread the tax burden among taxpayers.

The Senator also led the battle this year to insure that no American citizen should go hungry. His amendment has provided food for needy children and low-income persons. As one of the authors of Medicare, he has displayed a broad concern with the quality and cost of medical care in the United States.

On the Asia and Vietnam War, the Senator has rejected the idea that our stakes in Vietnam are worth any price that we might have to pay. He has declared the United States ought not to continue indefinitely in a situation where we are more worried about saving South Vietnam than they are about saving themselves. He has consistently opposed further escalation of the fighting and was one of the first to oppose progressive "Americanization" of the war effort. He favors economic and social reconstruction, including land reform and care of the Vietnamese refugees.

Senator Javits exercise of judicious and independent judgment has won him support that crossed party lines in past elections and resulted in impressive victories.

The Senator also has an abiding interest in Ulster County as manifested in such local projects as the Ulster County Community College and the Rondout Gardens housing development.

In our judgment, his record entitles him to another term in the United States Senate.

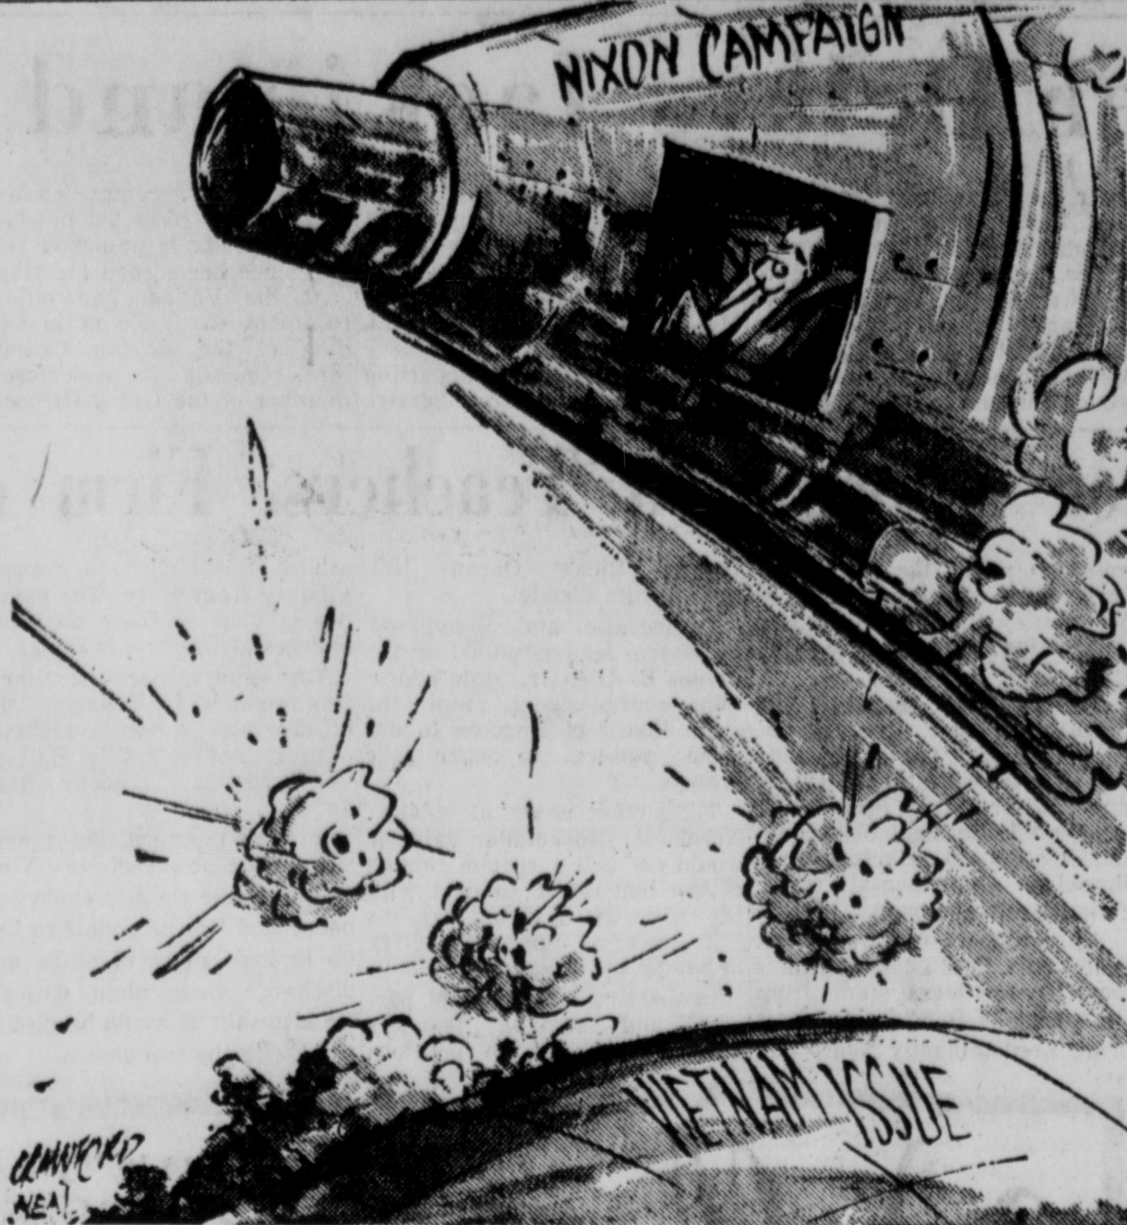

Government Executive

Fifty-two high level executives began an eight-week course this week at the newly founded Federal Executive Institute at Charlottesville, Va., located temporarily in the Thomas Jefferson Inn. Eventually it will have a building on the campus of the University of Virginia, a partner in the enterprise.

Dedicating the institute, Chairman John W. Macy of the U.S. Civil Service said that the government executive of the future will be more broadly and more continually educated. The institute will provide some of this continuing education for those of the highest leadership responsibilities. And he will be both the developer and the manager of future changes in government.

Macy foresaw scientific selection of the executive for training, assignment and reassignment, as well as greatly expanded career opportunities and greater recognition and prestige. He will be far more mobile, spending portions of his career in state and local governments, in universities, in foundations, research centers and business. He will be conditioned and trained to serve where needed.

Reading these attainments and opportunities, we cannot help wondering if public service is going to be such an all-embracing calling that the bureaucracy will take over government. We thought we were going to get less, not more, government, and here we are preparing to train government executives for roles in the broadest spectrum of our life today.

David Lawrence Says Paris Conference Will Affect Peace of World

WASHINGTON — All eyes are on the negotiators in Paris who seek an ending of the Vietnam war, but the place to watch is Moscow. The danger is that the relatively small war going on now in Southeast Asia can be the prologue of even larger wars in the next few years both in Europe and Asia.

Arthur Goldberg, former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, said last Friday that, because of the Vietnam war, Americans have "too long taken their eyes away from the main ball game." He stated that the Soviet Union's actions in Czechoslovakia "reflect the sanctions in the Kremlin — I look with great fear and foreboding at what these events may mean."

The so-called Czech-Soviet "treaty" is a symbol of other developments which may be in the offing. The people of Czechoslovakia have been the victims of an outright seizure of power and a loss of their independence and sovereignty. The free world looks on with abhorrence yet official indifference. The other eastern European nations which also are under Soviet pressure are frightened and worried.

The western powers are trying to meet the issue by mere talk about reorganizing NATO and building a bigger military machine to protect Europe. Coincidentally also, the situation in the Middle East grows more precarious. The institute for strategic studies has released in London a study on "conflict and tension in the Mediterranean," and says the danger of a miscalculation in the Middle East is "considerable."

The point made is that the growth of Soviet naval power in the Mediterranean will make it difficult for the United States to withdraw its forces from the area.

Already the non-Communist nations in Asia are showing a deep fear about their possible loss of American military aid once a Vietnam peace is concluded. Denis Warner, an Australian journalist who recently completed an extensive tour of the Far East, wrote in a dispatch from Melbourne to the Washington Post on Sunday: "At no time since World War II has the Far East been more preoccupied with the problems of defense than it is today. Everywhere from Seoul to Canberra, agonizing reappraisals are taking place on the premise that the great and good friends who accepted so much of the burden in the past are unlikely to be so forthcoming in the predictable future."

The general impression prevailing in Southeast Asia today is that, once the Vietnam war ends, the United States will never again become involved in any Asian commitments of its military forces. Great Britain and France have already withdrawn from the region, so the Asian countries are left face to face with the possibility of a Communist "take-over" whenever it suits Peking or Moscow or both.

Trouble spots, therefore, are bound to increase rather than diminish, especially if the policy of the United States is decisively influenced by the "isolationist" sentiment which has been widely expressed in this country before and after the national political conventions. No matter who is elected as the next President of the United States, the question that will be asked throughout the world is whether America is preparing to turn its back on the small countries to whom up to now it has promised protection from aggression. If this kind of policy emerges, the Soviet government and the Red Chinese regime will be the beneficiaries.

Each of the three presidential candidates has emphasized in one way or another his intention to settle the Vietnam war, bring the troops home and "let the other fellow" do the fighting hereafter against invasion. The United Nations, of course, which should have been the active defender of the small nations, is paralyzed. The Soviet Union has not only a veto in the security council but a substantial influence in the general assembly to block action.

History may repeat itself. The breakdown of the League of Nations made World War II possible, and the impotence of the United Nations can encourage Communist imperialism to proceed to do what the world has just witnessed in Eastern Europe. If "peace in Vietnam" turns out to be a Munich sort of peace, this could mean the start of a series of major acts of aggression which could make World War III inevitable and American participation unavoidable. It isn't merely Vietnam but the future of world peace which will be affected by what happens at the Paris conference.

Harlem cool through several hot summers, who walked fearlessly among the blacks and Puerto Ricans, who delivers knowledgeable speeches on urban problems, who often was touted at Miami Beach as the one who could do the most for Richard Nixon as a running mate.

Unhappily, the polls in question do not probe into New York voters' reasons for judging Lindsay so harshly. It is perhaps not unfair to assume that to some extent the appraisal is truly a general one, indicating that many New Yorkers do not believe that since he took office in 1966 Lindsay has really solved any of the problems that make their city nearly unlivable.

Some analysts who have put the Lindsay regime under scrutiny from time to time have come up with summary judgments not far from that viewpoint.

But in the view of some seasoned judges of the New York scene, a general downgrading is not the big thing. They argue that Lindsay's amazingly low poll status today has one overriding meaning: He is a victim of the "law and order" mood which is running rampant today in New York, the other big cities, and most of the country.

Lindsay's brave walks through the slums, his reportedly high status in the minority communities, his frequently expressed sympathy for the plight of the disadvantaged urban dweller, all have the effect of putting off city voters deeply troubled by crime and riot and general urban turmoil.

A month ago this reporter wrote that polls in two normally Democratic Jewish districts in Brooklyn were showing heavy margins for Nixon. The explanation — law and order.

So Lindsay not only did not fit the Republican party's mood at Miami Beach, but he does not suit the national mood for all his notoriety. He is a legend only to the likely losers in this election.

No one could say with good sense that the American people today are not gravely concerned about the Vietnam war. They want it ended as soon as possible. But there is no majority for withdrawal at this price, nor any clear sign U.S. voters generally think any 1968 presidential candidate has some magic solution.

It is law and order, not Vietnam, that is sinking Vice President Humphrey so deeply in the mire. No peace policy he could devise would save him. Those McCarthyite liberals who think the war's greatest cross to bear are dreaming a monumental irrelevancy.

Drew Pearson Says Release of Pueblo Crewmen May Be Just Around the Corner

WASHINGTON — It's not entirely nailed down, but it looks as if an agreement to release the 82 crewmen of the USS Pueblo might be just around the corner.

Negotiations have been progressing by which North Korea would release the men in return for some kind of an American apology, and there has been a lot of diplomatic haggling over the wording of the apology.

The United States has never admitted that the Pueblo was in North Korean waters, and at first was convinced that it was not. However, the commander of the vessel and members of the crew, having given public statements to the contrary, the Defense Department is willing to concede that its original information could have been wrong.

So a formula has been proposed whereby the United States states that if the USS Pueblo was in North Korean territorial waters, then in that case it apologizes.

Mother-in-Law Worries

The more you look into the record of shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, the better you can understand why the Kennedy family is privately upset. Mrs. Rose Kennedy, Jackie's mother-in-law, is the most upset, but none of the family is enthusiastic.

The chief blot on Onassis' record dates back to a phony shipping deal in which he purchased American ships and then placed them under foreign registry, which was clearly against the law. For this he was criminally indicted and only managed to get out of the indictment through a fortuitous political circumstance.

Onassis put the deal across by involving some important Americans as window dressing, namely Admiral "Bull" Halsey, hero of the Pacific, former Rep. Joe Casey of Massachusetts, the late Edward Stettinius, former Secretary of State, and the late Brig. Gen. Julius Holmes, former head aide to Gen. Eisenhower in North Africa and a career ambassador. Holmes was also the son-in-law of the late Gov. Henry Allen of Kansas.

With this glittering American front, Onassis maneuvered to secure 14 U.S.-built ships. The Truman administration investigated, and the Eisenhower administration inherited the probe. The latter indicted both Onassis and some of his American partners on the criminal charge of conspiring to deceive and defraud the United States. At that time Herbert Brownell was Attorney General. This was what eventually got Onassis off the criminal hook.

For it so happened that Brownell, when a senior partner of the law firm of Lord, Day and Lord, had been Onassis' attorney and had advised him that it was legal for him to set up these dummy corporations.

However, the Justice Department later, when Brownell was boss, ruled to the contrary, that this was a criminal offense. It's probable that Brownell did not know what his vigilant Assistant Attorney General Warren Olney III, then Chief of the Criminal Division, was up to, but it is doubtful that Olney would have been deterred in any event. Olney had served as Chief of the California Crime Commission under Gov. Earl Warren and was not deterred easily.

At any rate, to get out of the embarrassment in which both Attorney General Brownell and Onassis found themselves, a compromise was arranged by which Onassis paid $7 million to Uncle Sam instead of standing trial. Onassis described it as a "ransom."

Tax-Free Fleet

Onassis has operated one of the largest tanker fleets in the world through a Panamanian corporation, the Olympic Line. He also has a fleet of dry cargo vessels under the Panamanian flag, plus another fleet under the Honduran flag and one or two ships under the Norwegian flag.

Onassis himself has long been an Argentine resident and as such escaped paying personal taxes either in C. or New York. Furthermore, dollars owed under the Panamanian flag are almost 100 per cent tax free and can be sent anywhere in the allied world. In contrast, dollars earned by American flagships are subject to a 38 per cent corporation tax payable in the years earned.

Of course Onassis is not alone in taking advantage of the Panamanian tax dodge. The worst offender in using foreign flagships is Standard Oil of New Jersey, a Rockefeller corporation which operates approximately 118 tankers under foreign flags. This is done through 17 foreign subsidiaries wholly owned or controlled by Standard Oil of New Jersey. But part of Onassis' shipping combine is Victory Carriers Inc., controlled by his two children and his first wife. The two children were born in New York and are American citizens and even though minors owned the Victory Carriers corporation. Their stock, however, has been controlled by the Grace National Bank as trustee.

The corporation undertook to build four tankers to be added to the U.S. merchant fleet as part of the deal Onassis worked out with the Eisenhower administration. The U.S. government put up $28 million of mortgage money to help build two of the tankers, the S.S. Monticello Victory and the S.S. Montpelier Victory, both delivered to Onassis in the early 1960s. He had great difficulty, however, putting up the required working capital to operate the vessels and this has been under intermittent fire in the Maritime Commission.

Henry J. Taylor Says Victims of Mismanged War

Hard-pressed Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey is nevertheless riding the coattails of an enormous distraction. It allows the Great Society to avoid the mismanagement of the horrible Vietnam war as a war. It sails him right over the most incredible scandal in the history of our nation.

The constant debates about whether or not we should be fighting in Vietnam, the anti-war demonstrations, the arguments about whether we should stop bombing in the north, etc., distract us from the fact that we are the victims of a mismanged war which, by every conceivable measure of relative power, should have been over and done with long ago.

It is impossible to rewrite the record.

Ninety days after the Bay of Pigs invasion (April 18, 1961) embarrassed President Kennedy decided to send the first combat troops into Vietnam (16,000) reportedly to show Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev after the Cuban debacle that the United States was not a paper tiger. It was unquestionably the most disastrous face-saving decision ever made by a President of the United States.

On February 3, 1967, the 500,00th American soldier arrived in Vietnam. Another 35,000 Americans are on our 7th Fleet ships, and 40,000 air personnel are in Thailand. The Pentagon confirms that we have present the greatest concentration of firepower ever to be placed anywhere by any nation in history and in an area only about the size of the State of Michigan.

On January 13, 1964, heavy Communist units stood on the outskirts of Saigon. On this same date in 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968 they were still there. They are still there. Saigon itself is under siege. It is not even as secure as it was in 1963 — five years ago.

On May 5, 1965, we began bombing North Vietnam in earnest. We bombed and bombed and bombed. On August 12, 1965, we began our first big troop engagement. It was at Chu Lai. This spread to the bloody encounters in the Ia Drang Valley and the Mekong Delta. Today we hold none of these areas and have been at the cost of terrible casualties — in and out of them 11 times.

Our entire nation is fully familiar with the great difficulties where we are fighting. The heroism and morale of our troops and airmen who are fighting and dying is magnificent. God bless them. But in all these years under Washington's back-seat driving we have still not even built an effective front and are not secure on our flanks or in our rear.

No war in history was ever properly conducted like that. Mighty America's overwhelming power has been fended off, not by the enemy, but by Washington's own hand.

At no time has the Communist enemy lost the initiative. The root of this is Washington's incredible dream of meeting the aggression piecemeal, calling it a no-war all the time and still doing so. As the enemy escalated the war, being free to do so, so did we.

Accordingly, we have allowed the aggressor to choose the times, places, terrain and methods of doing battle. We have handed him the initiative at a risk he can afford.

Along with this fundamental error in strategy is Washington's unprecedented dreamland policy known as "gradualism" theory has meant a "pause" at each level of the war. Somehow the Washington sponsors have expected these to cause the enemy to reconsider, his risks, although no one has explained this incredible dream.

Actually, of course, each step has allowed the enemy a magnificent, free opportunity to revive his strength, recoup and refurbish his forces, dig them in or deploy them, scatter his targets and fix himself up fine for his next leap. Again and again, the enemy turns Washington's dream into a nightmare.

Beyond these fundamentals of mismanagement, having nothing to do with international political questions, there are the supply shortages, the misapplication of our airpower, the basic misuse of our Marines, the failure to appoint an over-all supreme commander in field, and a host of other violations of established principles from which the talk-talk-talk about everything else distracts us.

What we are really seeing is a long, drawn-out Bay of Pigs all over again. This is accounting time in the United States. The Administration that is responsible must be held responsible or the democratic process becomes a farce and a fraud.

BERRY'S WORLD

"... and when I said that it was time for him to grow up and shoulder responsibility, he said, 'What's in it for me?'"

AWARD WINNER

Local Doberman Takes Utility Degree Honor

Red Lady, a Doberman Pinscher owned and trained by Miss Mary A. McDonald of 456 Broadway in Kingston, was awarded the coveted American Kennel Club utility degree.

The degree was awarded at the Northwestern Connecticut Dog Club in Goshen, Conn.

Red Lady successfully qualified in three obedience trials with consistently high scores of 579½ points out of a possible 600 thereby gaining the highest degree offered by the AKC and the most difficult to learn.

The dog had to be able to find three articles, one each of wood, metal, and leather, which have been handled by its owner and then hidden among 12 similar articles.

The dog also had to find an article which was dropped by its owner and must respond to all basic obedience commands and signals during the silent signals exercise.

The dog also had to do directed jumping over a solid and a bar jump, when signaled by its owner. The final exercise was a group examination by a judge, which lasts a minimum of three minutes, during which the dog must stand perfectly still.

In addition to this AKC degree, Red Lady holds degrees from both the Canadian and Bermuda Kennel Clubs and has the distinction of being the only canine in this area to have earned all these awards.

Miss McDonald is the recipient of Dog World Magazine's award for "Outstanding Service to Dogs."

On Nov. 3, Miss McDonald and Red Lady will join a group of exhibitors from the United States and Canada who will depart from Kennedy Airport to participate in the Bermuda Club International "All Breed and Obedience Trials" to be held Nov. 4-9 in the Botanical Gardens, Paget East, Bermuda.

Drug Seminar Set for UCCC

The second session of a narcotics seminar, entitled "Operation Concern," will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College.

The session, for which there is no registration fee, will be in room 415 of the John Burroughs Science Building.

The speaker will be David

Diamond, assistant counsel for the State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, who will talk about implementation of the Narcotic Control Act of 1966.

The purposes of the commission are three-fold: to seek prevention through education, to work on rehabilitation and treatment of drug addicts, and to conduct research into the problem.

Red Cross Classes For Rhinebeck Aides

The first of six two-hour classes for the Red Cross-sponsored volunteer program being initiated at Rhinebeck's Northern Dutchess Hospital began last week at the hospital with some 20 women from the Red Hook-Rhinebeck area attending.

Howard Wilson, executive director of the Dutchess County American Red Cross, conducted the session devoted to Red Cross background and general information and he outlined future classes which will be used for training the volunteers in actual non-medical patient services.

Included in the instructions are bed making, patient feeding, assisting patients in and out of bed or wheelchair and providing bath set-ups for semi-ambulatory patients.

Other duties for volunteers are distribution of mail, making deliveries for the pharmacy and laboratory, assisting the patients with menus, and generally helping the nurses whenever they are needed.

The next class will be at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 22 at the hospital and all future classes will be on Tuesday nights.

The hospital has also acknowledged the gift of $23.07, donated to the pediatrics ward of eight Hyde Park young ladies—the total proceeds from a penny carnival they held during the summer.

The area contributors were Beth Sperry, Cheryl Castles, Pam Sperry, Susanne Hennessy, Gail Castles, Mary Bawol, Beverly Hennessy and Lou Anne Sperry.

Many Losses for Hussein—Next Could Be His Throne

Even if current optimism over the possibility of an early start to Mideast peace talks is borne out, they may come too late for King Hussein of Jordan.

The optimism is based on reports that both Hussein and President Gamal Abdel Nasser sent their foreign ministers to the United Nations General Assembly meeting with orders to seek indirect negotiations with Israel for a political settlement of the June, 1967, war.

Jordanian emissaries already are said to have contacted the Israelis.

Of all the Arab losers, young Hussein, last of the Hashemite kings who once ruled both Jordan and Iraq, lost the most—38 per cent of Jordan's productive capacity and 85 per cent of her tourist income.

The next thing that could be lost is his throne.

Illustrating how precarious is Hussein's position have been recent dispatches from both Amman, the Jordanian capital, and Cairo.

These dispatches have told of mounting tension between the government and the Palestinian commandos who use Jordan as a base for their raids into Israel. Far from seeking peace, these groups seek the military extinction of Israel.

Cairo dispatches suggest that government efforts to contain these groups have failed and instead that the government has been forced into an agreement to lift all restrictions upon them in exchange for a promise that they will not interfere in Jordanian politics.

This like the Russians saying they will not interfere with the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia despite the fact their troops remain on Czech soil.

The commandos are divided into three main groups:

The Palestine Liberation Army which claims 12,000 men, of whom 3,000 are believed to be in Jordan and the others attached to the armies of Egypt, Syria and Iraq.

Al Assifa, military wing of Al Fatah, claims 15,000 men.

Ari's Great Yacht--- Even Tipplers Helped

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Christina, Aristotle Onassis' yacht on which he and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis are honeymooning, is outfitted with lavish appointments and priceless art.

A twin-engine amphibious airplane and a speedy launch are kept on the deck of the ship which is 110 yards long. The one-time floating playground of the international jet set is boarded at the second level with its main salon, 22-seat dining area and kitchen.

Tour for Reporters

In recent years, Onassis has pulled the Christina into Florida ports several times. During his last trip, Charles Bosco, a butler, was permitted to give reporters of the Miami Herald and Miami News a tour of the ship.

In the main salon sits a jade Buddha, one of three that exist. Queen Elizabeth and the Aga Khan own the other two.

The Onassis stateroom is dominated by a low-slung king-sized bed with Greek icons on each side and a gilt-framed mirror on the wall above. The bathroom is all marble with gold faucets in his and hers sinks.

The tub is also marble with bright blue, fish-patterned mosaic interior.

The study has a high beamed ceiling and a wood burning fireplace. In that room are an El Greco and a solid gold sextant, a gift from Arabia's King Saud.

Leather and wood straps keep books firmly on the shelves lining three walls in the library.

In the bar, guests can sit on whale skin bar stools and watch a parade of magnetic miniature ships, from Phoenician to Mississippi steamboats, glide around the circular bar under glass.

There are whale-teeth handles for tipplers to grip during rough weather.

Next door, in the rumpus room, there is a piano, another fireplace, another El Greco, more books, opera scores and a portrait of Onassis' mother who died when he was a child.

As in the main salon, the playroom decor blends European and Oriental antiques. In both areas, the furniture is arranged for easy conversation. Marble coffee tables, inlaid in Florentine tradition, map out various parts of the globe.

The playroom opens onto the fantail where there is a swimming pool the bottom of which can be raised to make a dance floor.

The yacht, named after Onassis' daughter Christina, is already equipped for the Kennedy children, Caroline and John. Between guest staterooms and the bar is a children's playroom with half-size tables and chairs, original storybook murals and a separate dining area.

There are a dozen guest rooms.

$5 Million Budget

Teak, wicker and deep cushions are the decor on deck.

One stateroom is converted to a hospital complete with an operating table equipped for major surgery.

The ship takes a crew of 45 and a budget of about $5 million a year.

Innocent Plea

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old Canadian has pleaded innocent to federal charges that he had passed counterfeit Canadian money near Syracuse.

Robert Quinn of Toronto entered that plea Monday in U.S. District Court before Judge James T. Foley. The judge assigned him an attorney and postponed further action, pending the filing of pre-trial motions.

Orchard Mice Controls To Be Growers Topic

An educational session for fruit growers will be held Wednesday 1 p.m. at Moriello Brothers orchards, Route 32, New Paltz.

According to Warren H. Smith, cooperative extension agent, James Forbes of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has been conducting research on orchard mouse control at the Moriello orchard and he will reveal facts about his findings.

Some of Forbes' work has involved the use of a mechanical orchard baiter for pine mice control (trail builder) which will be demonstrated. There will also be a discussion on the use of endrin.

Union Center Group Plans For Halloween

The Union Center Civic Group will hold its next regular meeting in the Union Center School House, Wednesday, Oct. 23, beginning at 8 p.m.

Joseph E. Sills Jr., president of the local organization, requests the attendance of all members as there will be an important business discussed and plans formulated for the Halloween Party for neighborhood children.

Mrs. Jack Clair of Kingston will be the guest for this month's meeting. Mrs. Clair is a first grade teacher in the West Hurley School. Known throughout the Kingston and surrounding areas, Mrs. Clair is a renowned world traveler and lecturer. She has spent 13 years traveling to various parts of the world, the most recent of which was to Norway and the Arctic Circle, which she has classified as the most beautiful of her travels.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

The airline has signed an agreement with Broome County Airport, said Frank Bloom, pilot for the airline and will begin flights from the Endicott strip on Nov. 5.

Mountain Airways uses a fully equipped multi-engine aircraft. Antipilot and radar transport are part of the safety equipment for use during full instrument flights, he added.

The books are being made available by Viking Carpet dealers in connection with their sponsorship of an NBC-TV color special, Babar the Elephant, on Monday, Oct. 21 at 7:30 p.m. on NBC-TV.

This animated cartoon special, built around the "Long Live Haplines" theme familiar to millions of Babar fans, is narrated by Peter Ustinov and produced and animated by Lee Mendelson and Bill Melendez, the team that brought the now-famous "Peanuts" TV special to American television audiences.

Delegations from all the commanderies in the Hudson River Valley with their ladies are expected to attend as well as many distinguished Past Grand Commandery Officers.

Trenching Work for Lights Underway at Aero Airport

Trenching operations are in progress for new Federal Aviation Agency approved lighting at Aerolake Airport on Route 9 in Port Ewen. The lighting is to be used as Mountain Airways begins its first Friday night flights between the Ulster County community and Kennedy Airport in New York City.

The new flights, the airline said, will replace Sunday flights.

Completion of the project is expected within the week, according to the airline, and full service will begin by Nov. 1.

Arias Leaves Panama, Flies to U. S.

PANAMA CITY (UPI)—Deposed President Arnulfo Arias of Panama left his refuge in the American-controlled Panama Canal Zone Monday night and flew in a U.S. government plane to Washington, American spokesmen said today.

Spokesmen for the Panama Canal Co. said Arias left because "this would help prevent bloodshed in Panama."

The Panamanian national guard toppled Arias' 11-day-old regime Oct. 11 and the of space records, including the most man-hours in space on a single flight—780 hours and 30 minutes—and the second longest flight in space—260 hours and 10 minutes. The only previous three-man flight was Voskhod 1, launched by Russia in 1964.

The astronauts successfully tested their 21,000-pound-thrust rocket engine, the most powerful ever used by men in space, firing it eight times. The last blast, an 11-second "burn," sent them back toward earth. They jettisoned the service module containing the rocket and it burned up in the atmosphere.

Head Colds

Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham also set a first with their head colds in space—an annoyance at first that led to grave fears for their safety during the return. It was feared the swiftly rising pressure and sudden gravity thrust—giving them at its peak three times their earth weight—might burst their eardrums. Intense pain was considered likely.

But the astronauts appeared unharmed when they stepped off the helicopter. Commander Edward A. Skube of Pueblo, Colo., pilot of the Sea King "Recovery 3" which hoisted the astronauts up from the smooth ocean surface, reported one was "a little nauseated."

Swimmers plunged out of Recovery 3 when it finally located Apollo 7, 9 miles north of the Essex. No sooner had they rigged the flotation pad around it than Cunningham opened the hatch and peeped out.

A rubber liferaft was inflated alongside the heat-sealed spacecraft and Cunningham stepped in. Recovery 3 dropped a birdcage-like recovery net and hoisted him 60 feet up to safety.

Eisele was next, followed by Schirra. Recovery 3 chugged slowly out of the overcast in front of the Essex and hundreds of sailors lining the carrier's flight deck sent up a rousing cheer. "Essex Says Hello" read a sign they set out.

A Red Carpet

A red carpet was rolled to the door of the helicopter and the astronauts stepped out.

Schirra emerged first, then Eisele, followed by Cunningham, standing at the top of the ramp, smiling. Walking down the carpet, Schirra, a Navy captain, saluted the brass waiting to greet him. He had been kidded by helicopter crewmen about getting his first taste of the "submarine service" in his upside-down landing.

After brief smiles and handshakes, the astronauts were hustled into sick bay for medical checkups. After the doctors were through, the crew of the Essex had a 500-pound green-and-white cake waiting for the first Americans to return from space in nearly two years.

Swimmers continued to wrestle with the spacecraft, preparing it to be hoisted aboard the Essex. Experts said that of the roughly 50 minor malfunctions experienced aboard Apollo 7, they understood all but two. They expected no trouble in understanding the remainder after examination of the spacecraft.

"I'll be prepared to talk about the whole mission when we get back," Schirra said as he started Apollo 7 on its ride back to earth. The astronauts fly from the Essex, which picked them up 1,100 miles east of Cape Kennedy, to the cape itself Wednesday for several days of medical checks and technical debriefing.

Schirra told his buddies at Houston control Monday night to "trot out some more beer" when they return to Houston. The spacecraft will be taken by the Essex to Mayport, Fla., and then flown to its builders at the North American Rockwell factory at Downey, Calif., for study.

The flight of Apollo 7 was a triumphant return to space for America, its assault on the moon delayed 20 months by the tragedy of Apollo 1 Jan. 27, 1967.

Schirra was believed to have carried, in his small "pilot's preference kit," a memento to present to Mrs. Virgil Grissom, whose husband was to have led the first Apollo flight.

Grissom, Ed White and Roger Chaffee died when fire swept the cabin of Apollo 1 during a ground test. Schirra and Grissom were close friends and next-door neighbors in Houston. In the Houston control center, flight controllers fired up victory cigars when they finally had word the astronauts were safe.

"All is well," reported Paul Haney, mission control spokesman.

The chief problems on Apollo 7 appeared to be the astronauts' health. They daily dosed themselves with aspirin and decongestant.

Scholarship Exams Delayed; Blame Strikes

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The teachers strikes have postponed the giving of state scholarship tests in New York City until further notice, the State Education Department announced Monday.

Earlier in this term the regents scholarship and college qualification tests were held in other areas of the state. But the labor dispute forced the department to reschedule the exam in the city until Oct. 24. That date is no longer feasible, the department said.

Set Proposed Exchange For Colgate, Vassar Students

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Colgate University and Vassar College may conduct a student exchange.

Plans for the exchange were announced Monday by Alan Simpson, president of Vassar, and Vincent M. Barnett Jr., president of Colgate.

Initially, it is planned to exchange, on a one-to-one basis, 20 to 30 students starting in the spring semester. The project must be approved by the board of trustees of Colgate, at Hamilton, N.Y.

Trustees of Vassar, a women's college with 1,600 students, decided last summer to take steps toward becoming coeducational.

Earlier this month Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., disclosed plans for limited student exchanges with Vassar.

Colgate currently is making final arrangements for the exchange of about 50 students with Skidmore, a women's college with 1,670 students, at Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

All institutions involved are private schools.

Department officials emphasized that no New York City student would be deprived of a scholarship opportunity because of the postponement.

Indonesia Rioters Evicted By Troops

By ED BLANCHE

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Two thousand Indonesian marines and students rampaged through the Chinese quarter of Surabaya, burning and smashing shops and houses for five hours Monday before army troops evicted them, western diplomats reported today.

Military authorities imposed a dusk to dawn curfew on the tense capital of East Java. There was no official casualty report, but one newspaper said many Chinese were injured.

The Surabaya outbreak followed two days of violent demonstrations in Jakarta, protesting the hanging of two Indonesian marines in Singapore. Because Singapore's population is largely Chinese, the mobs vented their anger on Indonesian Chinese.

In Jakarta, troops moved back into the Chinese quarters of Glodok and Pasar Baru to prevent similar demonstrations there.

The hanged marines, now national heroes, were convicted of planting a bomb in downtown Singapore three years ago during Indonesia's war against Singapore and Malaysia.

Some political leaders have demanded that Indonesia sever diplomatic relations with Singapore, but Foreign Minister Adam Malik told Parliament today this will not be done.

Malik stressed it is "imperative the government maintain good international relations."

He denounced the violence in Surabaya, saying: "If we want another confrontation with Singapore, we are well on the way to it. We must check our emotions to insure the people will not suffer because of our actions, to show the world we are not a barbarous nation."

Heart Study Set

TEL AVIV (AP) — The U.S. government is financing a $140,000 study by Israeli doctors to investigate links between heart disease and road accidents which, the Ministry of Transport says, is the first such study ever undertaken.

Dramatic Showings Expected of George

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican and Democratic professionals across the country say they doubt George C. Wallace will carry any states outside the South—but they expect the third party candidate to make some dramatic showings.

Wallace could run second in six scattered non-southern states and strong in at least three more, according to party professionals and independent observers surveyed by The Associated Press in every state.

Wallace forces say they could carry Michigan with a 50 per cent vote, stand a good chance in Pennsylvania and will pull off some startling upsets in other states.

Let's Not Blow It

The major party professionals assess the prospects for Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey about the same way the candidates themselves have.

Republicans say even privately that Nixon is going to win unless he makes a mistake. "Let's not blow it," is a watchword.

The Democrats say Humphrey is behind—and they blame intraparty splits, their campaign's late start and a money shortage—but say he already has gained the momentum to overtake Nixon Nov. 5.

Associated Press bureaus in every state assessed the campaign at this point on the basis of state polls and interviews with party leaders, campaign insiders and independent observers.

They gave Nixon the lead in at least 26 states with 222 of the 270 electoral votes needed for election, Humphrey in Massachusetts and the District of Columbia with 17 electoral votes and Wallace in 5 states with 45 electoral votes.

The standing in other states was subject to rival claims or there were no attributable non-partisan figures.

The survey indicated Wallace could run second to Nixon in Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Alaska—and possibly Arizona and Idaho as well.

Wallace also showed strong but unmeasured labor support in Texas, Tennessee and Michigan and a more general appeal in Virginia.

In Kentucky, where Democrats are splintered and defections to Wallace are reported, some party leaders have said the Democrats could draw too low a vote—less than 20 per cent—to get on the 1972 ballot without petitioning. More optimistic Democrats say Humphrey is running second to Nixon and gaining.

Imponderable in Indiana
Wallace is an imponderable in Indiana, which gave him 29 per cent of its vote in the 1964 Democratic presidential primary. A poll for the Indianapolis Star and News gave Nixon about 44 per cent and Wallace and Humphrey each about 20 per cent.

Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has figured Wallace with about 25 per cent of that state's vote, ahead of Humphrey, and the AFL-CIO is working hard against reported breaks in labor ranks. But Nixon chiefs say Wallace is running third, not second.

Polls show Wallace running second in Alaska and disagree on whether he or Humphrey are second now in Arizona. Wallace strength in Idaho is a puzzler but the two major parties discount claims he has a majority.

Wallace showed leads in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi. Nixon appeared to have an edge in North and South Carolina and was running close to Wallace in Georgia.

Humphrey supporters in a dozen states report gains since his North Vietnam bombing halt speech but the Democratic candidate still suffers from intraparty splits in several major states.

In California, for one, key Democrats are former backers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and few show much enthusiasm for their standardbearer. That is at least a factor in the latest state poll showing a 44-33 per cent lead for Nixon.

In New York, Senate candidate Paul O'Dwyer, a McCarthy backer, has refused to endorse Humphrey. Other divisions, some less sharp, were reported in Illinois, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana and South Carolina.

WELCOME—President Joseph Waldinsperger (L) of the Mid-Hudson Vocational Teacher's Guild, welcomes Trade and Industrial Bureau Chief Bert Plummer of the State Education Dept. to New Paltz conference. Waldinsperger is a machine shop instructor at Kingston Center, Ulster County B.O.C.E.S.

Vocational Guild Conference

The Mid-Hudson Vocational Teachers Guild hosted a conference Oct. 18, at the New Paltz Savings Bank Community Room. Ninety-seven teachers of Occupational Subjects from Orange, Sullivan, Dutchess and Ulster Counties attended.

President Joseph Waldinsperger, an instructor at the Kingston Center, Ulster County B.O.C.E.S. introduced two speakers after a brief business meeting.

Bert Plummer, chief of the State Bureau of Trade and Industrial Education, outlined the State's Role in Vocational Education, particularly the new structure of Occupational Divisions. Plummer said that the streamlined setup will mean better administration of this rapidly expanding segment of secondary education. The Cluster Concept in Vocational Education was also explained, which will allow more efficient methods of exploring the student's total ability. The teaching of handicapped or disadvantaged students was also discussed.

Robert Marks, Dean of Faculty at Ulster County Community College, outlined the post-secondary opportunities for Vocational graduates. He stated that in addition to direct entry into the world of work the student could pursue many technical programs, either two or four year. Marks also said that the Community Colleges and Technical Institutes were prepared to train or upgrade those students who did not secure immediate employment, either in their full-time or evening divisions. He also quoted from National studies that showed an increase in high school vocational students from four million in 1962 to almost seven million in 1967, almost 25 per cent of the total high school enrollment. These studies also show that the development of skills, attitudes, work habits, and values are vitally important to both the student and the employer.

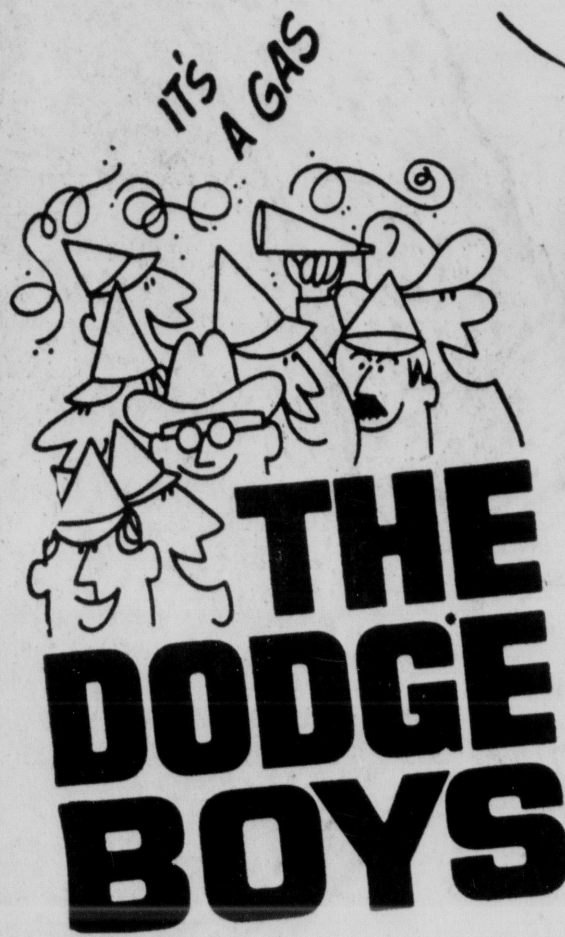

A visual aids program was held in the afternoon, conducted by Anthony Dellangelo of the 3M Company. Many types of visual aids were shown and their application and use explained.

Other displays of occupational tools, equipment, and textbooks were provided by W. L. Smith of Newburgh, and Delmar Publishing of Delmar.

The first annual conference was deemed a success by all present, including many Institutional teachers from the four-county area.

WHITA Announces Candidates for Oct. 29 Vote

The Nominating Committee of WHITA (We've Had It Taxpayers Association) has released its list of candidates for election to the Board of Governors of the new organization.

Election of the 21-member Board of Governors will be held at the Municipal Auditorium Tuesday night, Oct. 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Harry M. Thayer, acting chairman, made known the suggested candidates today with the statement that he will propose at the meeting that the membership not elect representatives from certain areas on the grounds that there is not a wide enough choice of candidates and that the proposed list of candidates for these particular areas defeats the purpose of the desire of the newly formed WHITA. Thayer declined to say at this time which areas he had in mind but indicated that by a standing vote at the election meeting on Oct. 29 the members could reject his suggestion if they see fit and elect the full slate except for one area of Ulster County.

In the Highland-Marlboro-Gardiner-Clintondale area, as yet no candidates have been suggested or have come forward who have been accepted by the Nominating Committee, and two persons are to be elected from this area.

The total membership of the Board of Governors of WHITA would be comprised as follows: Kingston—5, Saugerties—3, New Paltz—2, Onteora—2, Ellenville—3, Rondout Valley—2, Highland-Marlboro-Gardiner-Clintondale—3, At-large—1.

To date there are over 800 paid members of WHITA, which has a $2 annual dues membership fee. The candidates running for office will be elected for the balance of 1968 and the full year 1969.

At its original meeting, the We've Had It Taxpayers Association packed the Municipal Auditorium and it is expected that an even larger throng is going to be in attendance for the election of the Board of Governors.

Thayer said that the meeting will be called to order promptly at 7:30 p.m. New memberships will be accepted at that meeting, thus entitling those individuals taking out membership to vote that evening. He also said that anyone who cannot attend the meeting may apply for an absentee ballot by writing to WHITA, Box 243, UPO, Kingston. New memberships may also be taken out prior to the meeting by sending a check or money order or cash to the same box number in Kingston and a membership card will be mailed immediately. Any absent-tee ballots must be returned to WHITA prior to the start of the meeting on Oct. 29.

Regional Meetings Later

Following the election of the Board of Governors regional meetings will be held, according to Thayer, at Saugerties, Ellenville, Woodstock, etc. to discuss community problems relating to taxation, assessment, zoning, or any other matter that might be appropriate for the We've Had It Taxpayers Association to undertake in its representation of the public at large.

Anyone desiring information about WHITA prior to the Oct. 29 meeting may obtain same by writing to or telephoning Thayer, WGHQ.

Those nominated:

Kingston

David Winslow, computer engineer; Lucile Davidson, retired sales representative; Fred Hofbauer, postmaster, Bloomington; Al Sonnenberg, sales manager, advertising; Kenneth Pratt, vice president, Kingston Trust; Emma Aprea, housewife; Anteo Marchetti, physicist; H. County Budget Bids Gain, Still Hope for Decrease

ALBERT J. CAWEIN

Requests for appropriations from the various county departments and agencies for the 1969 budget are moderately higher, Edward W. Snyder, county budget officer announced today.

The budget requests received from department heads in a preliminary draft by the budget officer indicates that the total amount to be raised by taxation for 1969 is approximately $8,350,000. This is an increase over last year of about $600,000. These are not the final figures but merely totals of requests by the departments for appropriations, Snyder said.

County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savage said, "even though the requests indicate the budget will be $600,000 higher, figures are not available at this time."

It is hoped that after careful study and evaluation of the department figures by the budget officer and the budget committee, that a decrease in the 1969 budget will be possible.

The total assessed valuation of the county will be higher this year and estimated revenues will also show an increase. These two factors will also stabilize the tax rate. Final

May Be Ready by Nov. 1. The budget officer and the budget committee will go over each item to determine whether all requests are essential and justified, and will make cuts and other recommendations where necessary to keep the expenditures of county government within reason.

The budget committee is holding meetings currently to prepare the 1969 tentative budget. The tentative budget is expected to be available on November 1 and a public hearing date will be set at that time.

The county is currently operating on a $15,296,850 budget, a $3 million increase over the previous year. The total budget figure for 1969 cannot be estimated because County Highway Department figures have not been completed.

Savago noted that the Community College appropriations some of the increase to second year increments for county employees mandated under the Hanawalt salary study.

Chairman Savago attributed indicate a $222,232 increase in the county's responsibility. The budget request totals $456,222 as compared with the 1968 request of $233,990.

The County Jail request reflects an increase of $16,411. The request totals $214,802 as compared with $148,391 in the 1968 budget.

The Sheriff's Department request for the new budget totals $176,821, an increase of $40,063 over last year's figure of $136,758. The total increase for both facilities is $56,424.

Serious Problems

Budget Officer Snyder stressed these are not final figures, but merely reflect the requested appropriations from these departments and agencies.

The current $15 million budget ran into serious problems when it required an act of the State Legislature to validate the budget due to late presentation. The old County Board of Supervisors in its last legislative act approved the budget at the Dec. 28 session. However, state validation was necessary because copies of the budget were not available to the public in sufficient time prior to the public hearing.

Newburgh Man Hurt in Mishap

A Newburgh man was taken to Benedictine Hospital Monday following an accident at the corner of Henry and Pine Streets in which his foreign make truck was overturned when it collided with a car.

Lewis Kolman, 55, of Newburgh, was taken to the hospital by Fatum Ambulance after the collision with a car about 3 p. m. driven by Henry Barnes, 48, of Kingston.

City police are investigating the accident.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened irregularly higher today in moderately active trading.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI stock market indicator showed a gain of 0.24 per cent on 298 issues crossing the tape. Of these, advances topped declines, 140 to 83.

Steels were firm, but chemicals generally worked lower. Aerospace issues were mixed.

U.S. Steel picked up 1/4 in its group with Armco gaining a similar amount.

Eastman Kodak dipped 1/4 in the chemicals. Union Carbide gave up 1/4.

Among the aerospace issues, United Aircraft added 1/4, but Lockheed fell 1/4.

Chrysler dropped 1/4 in the autos. Ford dipped 1/4.

Music Retailer
Appears Promising

Q—I am a boy of 11 and have six shares of Carter-Wallace. Should I switch to something else?—S.D.

A—Carter-Wallace is under somewhat of a cloud as a result of the Food and Drug Administration's listing of one of its major products — meprobamate — under the 1965 Drug Abuse Control Amendment. Regardless of the outcome of pending federal court action instituted by the company, earnings are under pressure from heavy promotional costs and provisions for the surplus.

I would switch to Amer. Music Stores, a well-managed retailer of top-rated musical instruments along with TV sets, tape recorders, stereos, radios and sheet music and accessories. Some earnings recovery in the year ended this past July is expected despite weakness in guitar sales and a 9-month newspaper strike which curtailed advertising in the major Detroit market. With the strike now settled, keyboard instrument sales are moving up rapidly, six new stores are expected to open by next July and sales of $31 million appear attainable in the 1969 fiscal year. On this basis earnings could reach close to $1.50 per share. Shares now priced at 11 times this estimate seem at a fair level for long-term purchases.

Cruelty Case Adjourned Again

The cruelty to animals case of Clarence Campbell White, 51, of Pine Bush, has been granted a second adjournment until Nov. 26, by Town of Rochester Justice Raymond Lawrence.

White was charged in connection with an Ulster County Sheriff's raid staged at a farm in High Falls on Aug. 12. The raiding party found several mistreated horses at the farm, said to have belonged to White. He entered a plea of innocent at arraignment on Aug. 14.

TRADITIONAL DANCE—Japanese girls do a traditional dance in the streets of Tokyo as a prelude to Japan's celebration of its 100th anniversary as a modern state Oct. 23. On October 23, 1868, the boy emperor, who was later to be called Meiji, proclaimed the beginning of an era of "enlightened rule" in Japan. The 100th anniversary of that event will be known as the Meiji Centennial. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Japan Will Observe 100th on Wednesday

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan celebrates its 100th anniversary as a modern nation Oct. 23, more prosperous than many of its elders—and firmly pledged to peace.

The only country in history to suffer the horrors of nuclear war, Japan survived to prosper in peace beyond its or anyone else's expectations—a prosperity enjoyed under the protection of U.S. military might.

At the end of World War II Japan lay in ruins, totally defeated physically and spiritually. Then under a democracy devised and installed by U.S. occupation forces, Japan struggled back and up.

Japan's progress in the 23 years since war's end is a tribute to the generosity of the victors and the resiliency of the conquered.

Today Japan is aggressive only in the arena of world trade. It is the fourth greatest industrial nation in the world. By the end of the year it is expected to edge ahead of West Germany, then to be topped only by the United States and the Soviet Union.

Japan leads the world in shipbuilding and in the manufacture of cameras and radios, is second in automobile production and third in the making of steel.

Radio Growth

For the past decade, the Japanese economy has had an average annual growth rate of 10 per cent, increasing its exports from under $3 billion to more than $10 billion. Yet exports last year comprised only 10 per cent of its gross national product.

The startling rise in Japanese exports has frightened foreign manufacturers. U.S. steel-makers, for instance, frankly admit they cannot meet Japanese steel prices and have asked Congress to impose import quotas.

Japan ranks 21st in the world in per capita income. Its per capita gross national product last year was about $1,000 as compared to $4,000 for the United States.

The average Japanese still is poorly housed but 85 per cent of all households have washing machines and 77 per cent have refrigerators. Nearly every house has radios and a television. One family in eight owns a car.

There is practically no unemployment in Japan—in fact, there is a growing labor shortage.

Japan's prosperity is in part attributable to two factors which are friction points between the United States and Japan—trade, policy and defense.

The first involves the frequent charge—for which there is some justification—that Japan has capitalized on free markets abroad but has denied other nations free access to its own expanding economy.

It is expected that 140,000 Japanese cars will be sold in the United States this year. Practically no American cars are sold in Japan.

Even after the Kennedy Round tariff cuts become effective Americans cars will face a 17.5 per cent tariff in Japan and a commodity tax based on size and horsepower that averages 35 per cent.

The continuing debate between the United States and Party JSP, urges a national policy of unarmaged neutrality prompted some harsh words and abrogation of the security treaty between the United States and Japan, the pact which guarantees Japan its place under America's nuclear umbrella.

Japan does have a military establishment, euphemistically called the Japan self defense forces. These forces include a 173,000-man army, a 36,000-man navy and a 41,000-man air force. Some factions in the ruling and pro-American Liberal Democratic Party, LDP, as well as the United States, would like to see these forces beefed up and modernized. But all proposals to do so are vigorously opposed by leftists.

The U.S.-Japan security treaty, so bitterly opposed by Japanese leftists, is subject to review in 1970. The Socialists have promised an all-out campaign to see that it is scrapped.

Another problem, one that is tied up with the arguments over the treaty, is mounting opposition to U.S. bases in Japan. The 149 bases and the 41,000 American servicemen who man them are provided for under the political force in Japan, the pact.

The second most powerful political force in Japan, the

Kingston Daily Freeman Readers: Special INTRODUCTORY OFFER brings you as much as $10,000.00 EXTRA CASH INCOME whenever you or any of your family go to the hospital

★ Pays $100.00-A-WEEK TAX-FREE CASH for each week you spend in the hospital... even up to 100 weeks

★ PAYS IN ADDITION TO ANY OTHER COVERAGE YOU HAVE

★ No age limit—no medical examination required

★ No salesman will call

★ Checks are sent directly to you; money may be used any way you see fit

★ Pays up to $10,000.00 tax-free cash for each hospital stay

Act Now—GET FIRST MONTH'S PROTECTION FOR THE ENTIRE FAMILY FOR ONLY $1 THEN YOU MAY CONTINUE AT WORLD MUTUAL'S REGULAR LOW RATES.

Money back in full if not 100% satisfied. Apply NOW by date shown in your Enrollment Form below.

ONE OUT OF TWO FAMILIES will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family, tomorrow... next week... next month. Sad to say very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have TRIPLED in just a few short years. They are expected to DOUBLE AGAIN in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly but necessary X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stops, but living expenses go right on—rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop? What is the average breadwinner to do?

Now you can receive $100.00 a week tax-free cash, from the very first day you enter the hospital for as long as you are confined there—even for 100 full weeks, if necessary!

This new plan relieves you of worry about the terrible financial threat of accident or illness. But you must apply during this limited enrollment period BEFORE the date shown in your enrollment form below.

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON
Only $1 for first month for entire family — money-back guarantee.

To encourage you to see how much this Plan can mean to you and your family, we make this unusual, money-saving offer:

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only one dollar! Then, continue at World Mutual's low rates. But, you must act immediately, because this unusual opportunity is offered for a limited time. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection plan must be mailed on your convenient enrollment form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT, of the date in your Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

The new World Mutual Plan covers every conceivable kind of sickness and accident except, of course, hospitalization caused by mental or nervous disorders; act of war; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else IS covered.

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you with tax-free Income Protection for just $1 the first month for the entire family ONLY BECAUSE WE ENROLL A NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT ONE TIME—direct by mail! This highly efficient "mass enrollment" method cuts costs to the

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with The World Mutual Plan in addition to what "Medicare" will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you will still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have.

Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you, to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most—to help pay any bills you choose. Best of all, your World Mutual protection will pay even for 100 weeks, if necessary!

bone. We are able to issue thousands of policies in a few short weeks—rather than spread the procedure over many long months—or even a year. Our overhead and processing expenses are reduced drastically—and the savings are passed on to you!

After your first month's protection, you may continue at World Mutual's regular low monthly rates—and the rate you pay now will never be increased because you grow older!

What would happen to your family?

The chances are one in seven that you will spend some time in the hospital this year. A fall on the stairs, in the bathtub, or on the sidewalk—a sudden illness or operation—could lay you up for weeks, months, perhaps even years.

Right now, you probably have some hospital coverage. You may think you're "safe" from all the financial burdens of sickness and accident. But hospital coverage usually takes care of only part of your expenses.

Can you afford the soaring costs of doctor, surgical, and nursing bills? Can you afford missing your weekly paycheck during the time you're laid up in the hospital? Even though you probably have some protection now—will it be enough? Sickness, accidents, hospitalization, cost many people their savings, their cars, even their homes. Don't take chances with your financial security. Now for only pennies a day, YOU can enjoy the added protection, the peace of mind, the freedom from worry that this new World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Extra Income Health and Accident Plan WNL-1-667R offers.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your other insurance! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments—or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all the bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Income Protection that helps you pay either hospital costs or anything else you need or want!

You get your $100.00 per week—TAX FREE—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even for 100 weeks, if necessary.

For older folks—greater protection than you ever would have thought possible!

Right now, would advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Or perhaps you no longer have a regular income, and are living on Social Security. What would happen to you then if you had to suddenly go to a hospital?

Your "life saver" could be this wonderful World Mutual Income Protection Plan—because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. You can even be OVER 100 and still be eligible!

Can you afford to miss this chance?

Now, at less than you may ever have thought would be possible, you can set up a "gold mine" of protection from desperate financial straits when the need arises. Thanks to this unique new Plan, you can have the solid, substantial protection you need—and not only save money, but assure yourself of other benefits, too, during all the years to come.

Our famous MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE.

We are so sure that we offer the best protection at the lowest cost, that we make our famous MONEY-BACK guarantee.

When you send for your policy, and it arrives in your hands, we want you to look it over as carefully and as often as you wish. See how thoroughly it protects you. See how exactly it meets the needs that you want covered. See how here, at last, is the policy that makes it possible for you to get the sickness and accident protection you need, in greater measures than ever before!

If you are not 100% satisfied that your policy is exactly what we have promised it to be, and exactly what YOU want it to be—send the policy back to us within 15 days and we will REFUND YOUR MONEY IN FULL, AT ONCE. But meanwhile you will be protected. And, if you decide to continue this wonderful protection, you may do so at the low rates shown below—a rate which will never be raised because you grow older!

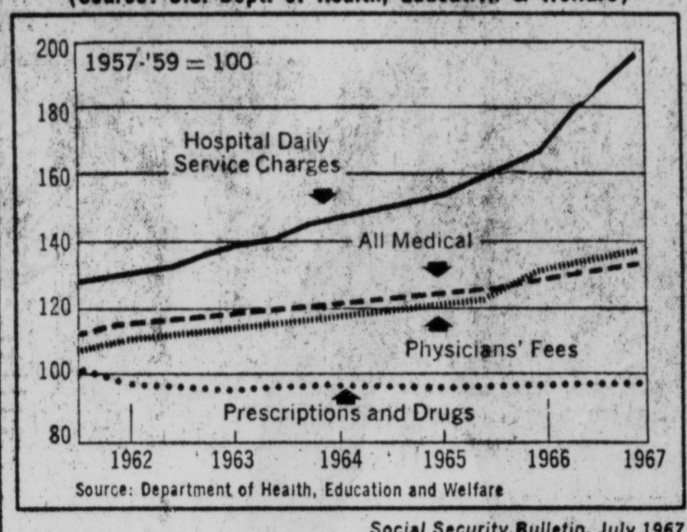

World Mutual Plans are nationally known.

This money-saving World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan truly offers outstanding value. Here's why: You can buy ordinary insurance from most companies at regular rates all year long. They are happy to issue one policy at a time. But World Mutual issues many new policies at one time during a limited enrollment period.

This "mass enrollment" method keeps our underwriting, processing and all other overhead expenses down to a bare minimum—and these savings are passed on to you!

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

(Source: U.S. Dept. of Health, Education & Welfare)

Govt. figures reveal your present health protection... may no longer protect you against today's rising medical costs! Don't leave your loved ones defenseless! Act at once to add up to $10,000.00 to your health protection for only $1 for entire family.

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON
Only $1 for first month for your entire family — unconditional money back guarantee.

To introduce you to this new Plan, we make you this unusual offer: Act during this enrollment period and get your first month's protection for your Entire Family for only one dollar! Simply fill out your enrollment form here and mail it with just $1, before midnight of the date within the enrollment form. A full month's protection will go into effect on the same day we accept your enrollment form. Your policy will be sent to you right away BY MAIL.

When you get your policy, examine all its benefits and features. Have it checked, if you wish, by your lawyer, doctor, or other trusted adviser. If you are not 100% satisfied, return the policy within 15 days and your money will be refunded. If you decide to continue this worthwhile protection, you may do so at the low rates as follows for each member:

World Mutual Monthly Renewal Rates
Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
0-39	only $3.95
40-54	only $4.95
55-64	only $5.95
65-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $9.25

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled in this World Mutual plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

The reliable company behind your policy.

Your policy is guaranteed by the World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Company of Pennsylvania. We have been helping families safeguard their security with sound insurance protection for more than 47 years. Our rating by Dunne's Insurance Reports, the world's largest policyholders' reporting service, is A+ (Excellent). This is the highest rating any insurance company can reach.

As for our financial position, Dunne's analysis shows that for each $100.00 of liabilities, World Mutual has assets of $134.54. This is higher than the 5-year average of the 15 largest insurance companies in the country, which have assets of $107.62 for each $100.00 of liabilities. In addition to this ample margin of financial safety, you can count on us to handle your claims fairly and promptly when you are hospitalized. World Mutual has paid claims in every state and in many foreign countries as well.

THESE 20 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell us how World Mutual's $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
$100.00 per week.

2. When will my hospitalization benefits start?
The day you enter the hospital.

3. Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full week?
Yes. This new plan pays whether you are in the hospital for only a day, or a week, a month, or a year!

4. Does this policy have any "waiting periods" before I can use it?
No. It will go into force on the same day we accept your completed enrollment form and $1 premium for your entire family.

5. How long will I continue to receive hospitalization benefits?
For every day you are in the hospital to a maximum of 100 weeks, as a result of any one accident or illness.

6. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
After you have resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, you are again eligible for benefits for a recurring condition, to a maximum of 100 weeks. And, of course, any new condition would be covered immediately!

7. How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you!

8. Can I collect from World Mutual even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare, for folks over 65.

9. Why do I need this World Mutual Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will require hospital care this year—and you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your World Mutual checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit!

10. May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit!

11. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No. World Mutual guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)

12. Will benefits be reduced because of advanced age?
No. Regardless of how old you become or how many claims you have, your benefits remain the same.

13. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. World Mutual guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

14. What is not covered by this policy?
The only condition not covered are those caused by: mental or nervous disorders; pregnancy; childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war; or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else is covered!

15. What are the requirements to enroll in this World Mutual Plan?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must apply before midnight of the date in the coupon.

16. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.

17. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining World Mutual during this enrollment period?
Yes. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief enrollment form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

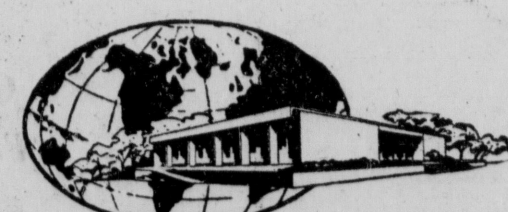

18. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 15.

19. How does the money-back guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!

20. How do I join?
Fill out your brief enrollment form (be sure to sign your name) and mail it, with just $1 for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: World Mutual, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) The sooner you mail your enrollment form, the sooner your protection begins. So get it into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost.

Condemnation Costly Part Of Urban Renewal Projects

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Court-appointed commissioners, lawyers, appraisers and other specialists have emerged repeatedly as the big financial gainers in the costly efforts by urban renewal agencies to acquire land under New York State's condemnation laws.

The fees paid to legal, real estate and appraisal experts as well as to commissioners and stenographers help swell the ultimate price of property for urban renewal substantially.

Growing Alarm

Urban renewal and other public agencies involved in land taking in this state already profess growing alarm over the high awards granted by courts to landowners—often from 50 to 100 per cent and more beyond the agencies' original offers.

And when the courts add interest fees—4 per cent from the day the land is designated for urban renewal—the prices jump higher. On top of this, the agencies must come across with fees to many of the expert interests involved in the condemnation proceedings.

Some federal urban renewal officials are fearful of the long-range effects of this condemnation system. But they'd have trouble trying to convince the owners of the Spaulding Bakeries in Binghamton that the system is wrong.

When the urban renewal agency in Binghamton offered $275,000 for the Bakeries' property, the owners turned to condemnation. The result: a total bill for the agency of $472,370.

In that case, the condemnation award decreed by the court was $423,000—54 per cent over the agency's approved offer.

The interest came to $22,235. Legal fees totaled $17,070. Commissioners' fees totaled $6,550. Steno costs came to $1,515. The agency appraiser charged $1,000 and a real estate consultant another $1,000.

Exemplifies Situation

This case exemplifies markedly a situation that exists elsewhere in the state. In the 10 years in which Binghamton has been actively involved in urban renewal, the 35 property owners involved in condemnations that have been concluded were offered a total of $1,447,305 for their properties.

Various condemnation commissioners awarded a total of $2,236,764 for these properties—51.4 per cent more than what was offered.

It cost the agency another $329,837 for the condemnations—for interest and fees for appraisers, lawyers, stenographers and commissioners. Thus, the agency had to pay out $1,089,296 more than the amount that would have been necessary if the owners had accepted the first offers.

Commissioners draw $25 "per diem" under the state condemnation law. Some of them collect more than that for a "day's sitting" with some sittings lasting only a few hours. In the Spaulding Bakeries case, the total for the commissioners' fee was $6,550. Divided by $75 per sitting, the figures indicate that the commissioners sat 87 times. The trial lasted nine days.

It has been explained, however, that commissioners charge the going rate for time they spend reviewing testimony heard earlier in a trial and for looking at property involved.

In a Lockport case, in which the Bewley Holding Co. received a condemnation award of $21,500—220.7 per cent above the approved offer, the commissioners' fees for 14 meetings were $1,150.

In a New Rochelle case, the agency offered $3,484,120 for 72 parcels of property. Commissioners awarded the owners $4,557,197, but the final acquisition cost was $5,373,419 because of interest and fees.

Before Single Judge

Among the cities that try their condemnation proceedings before a single Supreme Court judge—rather than before commissioners—are Buffalo, New York and Rochester.

Monroe County followed Rochester's example in abandoning the commission system in 1966 after engaging in a series of drawn-out proceedings that resulted in staggering costs for land-taking.

During one marathon case there, one of the three commissioners died before a judgment was made. The surviving commissioners charged $7,225 for their services.

In that same case—a land-taking for a runway extension, the owner's lawyer was entitled to either $12,500 one-tenth of the award, or $13,000, one-third of the difference between the county's best offer and the award, according to the Monroe County Bar Association's custom.

Mount Vernon Case

In a Mount Vernon case, commissioners drew fees totaling $1,300 for handling a trial involving a parcel in the Midtown Urban Renewal Project. The approved price was $20,000 but the final cost was $41,655.

In a Watertown case, commissioners' fees totaled $1,700 in the matter of Corydon and Charles Morrison, who owned property taken for the Court Street Project. The agency approved a price of $65,000 but wound up paying $81,375 for the property.

Many court-appointed commissions are dominated numerically by lawyers.

Still Not Cleaned

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli archaeologist Ruth Amiran 21 years ago sent a 3,000-year-old skull to the basement of Jerusalem's Rockefeller Museum for cleaning and wrote out a neat file card explaining its absence from display.

Then the 1948 Arab-Israeli war broke out and the museum fell under Jordanian administration. When it returned to Israel after the war last year, Amiran found the skull where she had left it and the filing card stacked in its place. The skull had not been cleaned.

Side Urban Renewal Project in Syracuse, 2, were lawyers and two were businessmen.

In the Binghamton area, Supreme Court justices are exclusively Republican. The commissions they appoint, almost invariably, are dominated by lawyers and Republicans. Of the 28 commissioners appointed thus far, 21 were lawyers. The others were real estate men.

One Binghamton commission that handled a case involving 16 properties billed the city for $24,175. Another charged $27,550 for handling 17 properties. A third drew fees totaling $27,550 and a fourth, $11,050.

Favors Tribunal

Watertown's urban renewal director, Anthony F. Vallone, told a legislative committee in 1966 that urban renewal condemnation programs would be better handled through a tribunal similar to the State Court of Claims. He said this would be better than the "political patronage" basis of commissions appointed by courts.

Since many government officials happen to be lawyers, some names of government officials are bound to turn up in discussion of land-taking cases.

In Syracuse, for instance, a survey of 12 urban renewal cases showed awards totaling $412,644 were made to property owners represented by lawyer Ephraim Shapiro, chairman of the county legislature.

The second largest total—$293,750—went to property owners represented by Robert J. McCormack, a member of the law firm of Sen. John H. Hughes, a Republican.

In Lockport, Assemblyman Gregory Pope, who is not a lawyer, is recorded as receiving a fee of $175 for serving as a commissioner in an urban renewal case. The award to the property owner, D. Greenfield, was $34,500—32.7 per cent more than the agency's approved price of $26,000.

Urban Renewal 'Trial'

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (on stage) is shown questioning Kingston Urban Renewal Agency officials Eric Hemphill and Frank Reis during last June's urban renewal hearings at the Rondout Recreation Center on lower Broadway. Hemphill, the agency's executive director at the time, and Reis, chairman, subsequently resigned after a summer of charges and countercharges. Hemphill went to Charleston, W. Va., as the executive director of that urban renewal agency in early September. His resignation was followed, a day later, by the resignations of the entire urban renewal agency. Congressman Resnick pressed his attack on a number of fronts in June of 1967, including debris lying around the Broadway East project, relocation of families from homes that had been demolished and fees paid to the attorney for the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, S. James Matthews. The projects, both uptown and downtown, have shown little progress since the Resnick hearings 16 months ago. However, it was announced today by the agency that another demolition contract has been let for both Uptown and Downtown. The agency is currently without an executive director as Ward B. Tongue, who served as acting executive director, announced his resignation last Friday. Kingston's two urban renewal projects are valued at more than $14,000,000, the third largest in New York State. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Clean Air Group to Albany

The Ulster County Action for Clean Air Committee will be represented at the Air Pollution Dialogue "Conserving Our Air" at Albany Thursday by two Ulster County officials, Dr. Vernon Link, health commissioner, and Harry Edinger, director of environmental sanitation.

The event takes place during the observance of Clean Air Week, Oct. 20-26.

John M. Robbins, Ulster County Clean Air Committee chairman, noted that it is the 20th national observance of the week sponsored by the Air Pollution Control Association.

An information session, the Albany dialogue is the last of three held previously at Rochester and Syracuse. It was developed as a program for public officials and made available to the public.

The morning session will feature two presentations. Alexander Rihm Jr., assistant commissioner for air resources, will speak on The N. Y. S. Air Pollution Control Program and How It Affects You and Your Community. Kenneth L. Johnson, acting associate regional director of the National Air Pollution Control Administration, will review the federal program in the same context. Following luncheon a discussion will be held.

Robbins pointed out that Dr. Link and Edinger will attend not only as public officials but as members of the local clean air committee as its representatives.

"Here in Ulster County," Robbins said, "our action for clean air committee will help in the observance of Cleaner Air Week by utilizing local resources and educational and informational materials based on a minimum budget."

Robbins pointed out that Cleaner Air Week program efforts are also full-time goals and will include education-information work to help to create a better understanding of community, state and regional problems related to the protection of our fresh air supply. It will also inform the public concerning the common, shared causes of air pollution and relate it to its health and economy. The role of the individual will again be defined as it effects pollution of the atmosphere. A prime effort will be to encourage and promote effort toward solution of the many long-range and complex air pollution problems realistically and objectively, and to help to project and coordinate control through future planning.

It is sponsored by the Ulster County Department of Health, Planning Board, TB and Health Association and Medical Society.

With The Latest "Know-How" In Modern Oil Heating*

Each year the Hudson Valley Oil Heat Council sponsors a special course for oil-burner servicemen at Dutchess Community College.

The purpose of this course is to keep abreast of the newest techniques in oil-heating service and equipment.

Graduates become Oil Burner Technicians, certified by the National Oil Fuel Institute.

Oil heat is the truly modern and economical way of heating.

That is why the progressive oil-heating industry places such great emphasis on qualified servicemen, ready at all times to serve you courteously and with expert knowledge.

Building a new home, up dating your old heating system, or changing over from a more expensive fuel, call your local heating oil dealer. He will be glad to advise you how best to heat your home.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MRS. LOIS H. GREGG

Guest Speaker in Saugerties

"History in the Making" will be the topic of the Woman's Club of Saugerties' speaker of the month, Mrs. Lois H. Gregg. Mrs. Gregg will be speaking on her Study Seminar this year to Russia, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Denmark, and England. Mrs. Gregg is the Associate Dean of Students at the State University of New York at Albany and has had many varied careers. The widow of a minister, she received her A.B. degree in Economics at the University of California, Los Angeles, and two Masters Degrees, one from the Pacific School of Religion and one from Stanford University in Counseling and Guidance. Art is another of Mrs. Gregg's interests. She has studied at Fresno State College, Stanford University, and in private instruction and has won many awards for her exhibited work. Since coming to the State University of New York in September, 1965, she has served as chairman of the Art Coordination Committee to encourage and acquire art work for the new campus. The meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 24, at 8 p.m. in the Dutch Arms Chapel of the Reformed Church of Saugerties on John Street. Mrs. Gregg will be presented by Mrs. Walter Stolte, chairman of public affairs committee. All interested women of the community are invited to attend. Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold opened her home on DeWitt Drive for a membership tea on Sunday, Oct. 20, from 2 to 4 p.m. The event was sponsored by the Saugerties Woman's Club and all interested women in the community were cordially invited to attend. The purpose of the tea, as explained by Chairman Mrs. William Ashmore, was to provide an opportunity for women to become better acquainted with the ideals and activities of the Woman's Club of Saugerties. A brief biographical sketch of the club and its various activities and accomplishments was made available. Officers, as well as the Board of Directors of the club, served as hostesses. Assisting Mrs. Ashmore in the planning of the event were the following members of the membership committee: Mrs. Frank White, Mrs. Lawrence Heron, Mrs. Roy Almquist, Mrs. Egon Lippert, Mrs. Robert Cole, Mrs. George Mehlich, and Mrs. Richard Dunn.

Panko-Weidler
Wedding Told

Miss Luba Panko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Szymon Panko of Beacon, became the bride of Robert J. Weidler, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Weidler of Pleasant Valley, on Sept. 27 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Poughkeepsie. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Margaret Yamarella of Beacon, Miss Nina Panko, sister of the bride, also was an attendant. Edward Hosier of Pleasant Valley served as best man. Usher was David Weidler, Pleasant Valley, brother of the bridegroom. After a reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the couple departed on a wedding trip south. The bride is a graduate of Beacon High School, attended State University College at New Paltz, and is employed at Montgomery Ward, Poughkeepsie. Her husband, an alumnus of Arlington High School, attended Marist College, and is enrolled at Dutchess Community College. He is employed at Montgomery Ward, Poughkeepsie.

Ashokan WSCS Has Active Yearly Agenda

The Ashokan United Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service has had long and varied history. It began as a Ladies Aid Society back in the 19th century in the old Shokan Methodist Episcopal Church now almost forgotten under the Ashokan Reservoir. In 1913, the Olive Branch and Shokan Methodist Episcopal Churches, under the name Ashokan Methodist Episcopal Church, was dedicated in the village of Ashokan (an Indian name meaning place of fish, black bird, or, to cross a stream) At this point the Ladies Aid Society became the Willing Workers with 20 charter members. Those were the good ol' days. The ladies promoted box and spider web socials. Dinners were served in the new hall and at one of the annual fairs they even sponsored Clayton's Famous Band from Ellenville. In 1940, due to an edict from the Conference, the group became the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Church, uniting with the Southern Methodists, became the Methodist Church. There are now 21 members working with president Mrs. Herbert Gray of Ashokan. At a world shaking event in Dallas, Tex., in April 1968, the Church united with the United Evangelical Brethren Church and the Society is now the United Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service. Goals are to help keep the Church progressing; to give to missions; to do whatever possible to aid and comfort when help is needed in the Community. Activities include baking birthday cakes for the residents in the Ulster County Infirmary; Christmas baskets for the shut-ins; clothes for the Volunteers of America; donate money to buy Christmas Gifts for welfare children. Social activities are a covered dish supper once a month with church members and friends; invited; also special program on Christmas and other occasions. The Church's 50th anniversary was held in Ashokan in 1963 with Bishop Lloyd C. Wickes as guest speaker. To earn money to assist the Church members sponsor fairs sales and sell candy. Two in the group, Mrs. Martin Gulnac and Mrs. Charles Sickler, have been members almost 47 years.

Married 25 Years

MR. AND MRS. FRANK ADAMS (Haines photo)

On October 12 Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Adams of 82 Crane Street, Kingston, renewed their marriage vows at a Mass celebrated by the Rev. Donald Miniscalco, St. Mary's Church, Kingston. Frank and Margaret Adams were married in Tampa, Florida, on October 16, 1943. Friends and family attended the church services. At a surprise party given by their daughters Susan and Paula, friends and family members helped celebrate the occasion. The guests included the Rev. John Farley of St. Mary's Church and the Rev. Donald Miniscalco; Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgerald; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Naccarato; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Macausland; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Perry; Mr. and Mrs. Mel Spano; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron E. Klein; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marallo; Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Wiles; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Domanico; Mrs. Marion Boice, sisters of the bride Mrs. Joseph Zito of Amityville, L. I.; Mrs. Stuart Windle of Staten Island and Mrs. Edward Myers and her husband from Montrose, N. Y. Miss Carol Turck assisted the hostesses and Jeffery Perry helped with refreshments. On October 16, 1968, the anniversary date, Mr. and Mrs. Adams spent the day in New York City, saw two stage plays at the New York City, saw two stage plays at the New York City, saw two stage plays at the New York City.

Revising By-laws

The Twentieth Century Club of Kingston met on Monday, Oct. 14, at the home of Mrs. Cloyd L. Elias in Stone Ridge, with the president, Mrs. John Pope, presiding.

Mrs. Elias presented an informative paper on the subject of "Corn," tracing its origin, its multiplicity of uses, and its great importance as a food to the population of the world.

The Twentieth Century Club is making a revision of its by-laws which were originally written in 1916 when the Club was incorporated with the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Elias, as the head of the Committee appointed to make the revision, read the outline of the new by-laws. A general discussion followed with members offering their ideas and advice on the changes to be made.

NORTHERN DUTCHESS BENEFIT—Halloween witches, ghosts and goblins will be working for the benefit of the Northern Dutchess Hospital come October 30 and 31 when they invade a haunted house. Those spooky characters and creatures will be crawling, the dead may be walking and creatures will be stalking. But it will be all in fun. The Northern Dutchess Hospital Mothers' Club and the Rhinebeck Rotary are getting an old house ready for the chilling Halloween night setting. Advance tickets for the unusual fund-raising project will be available soon. The witching hours will be from 4 to 12 midnight. The committee in charge does request that children under four years of age not be permitted in the house and that children four through seven be accompanied by an adult. Playclothes should be worn by all those planning to attend. Pictured with one of the "witches" are (L-R) committee members Kathy Kromenacker, chairman; Peggy Chekotas, Peter Troy, chairman for Rotary, and Jim Van Voorhis. (Freeman photo by Haines)

INTERNATIONAL NIGHT—The Rev. Ebenezer Mane, associate pastor at Fair Street Church, (l-r) Mrs. George Economos, and Mrs. Helen Ling, are pictured preparing for International Night which will be held at the Fair Street Church Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 6:15. Members and friends of the church are invited to attend the supper and donate their own covered dish specialties particularly those representative of international cuisine. Samples of Chinese, Japanese and Indian food will be available as prepared by the Rev. Mr. Mane, Mrs. Economos and Mrs. Ling. The meal will be concluded with Dutch cookies and cheese provided by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Veldman. After supper, Mrs. Economos will speak about her Buddhist background and the embracing of Christianity; Rev. Mr. Mane will speak about the influence of Christians in India; and Mrs. Ling will relate her past life in China and what her Christian faith means to her. Mrs. Ling, an accomplished pianist and soprano soloist, will also perform. (Freeman photo by Haines)

ANDREA JACOBSEN of Stone Ridge, a student at New England College in Henniker, N. Catskill Glee Club Presents Concert

The Catskill Glee Club recently presented a concert at Rondout Presbyterian Church in Kingston where their well-known tenor soloist, John McCullough is a soloist and church member. The Glee Club featured on its program "Happiness Is Being a Glee Clubber," a medley illustrating the wide variety of music in the repertoire of this organization of Hudson Valley men. Featured soloists were Nelson Burhans, baritone; John McCullough, tenor; and Walter McClure, baritone. McClure inspired his audience by his rendition of "O God, Have Mercy" from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul."

Members of the Glee Club enjoyed a social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McCullough after the concert. The Catskill Glee Club will present the next concert at the Westerloo School in Albany County on Monday, Oct. 28.

Will Give Concert

Dick Smith, a noted organist who has been well received in the Saugerties area, will return again for a performance on Tuesday, Oct. 29. He will appear in the Saugerties High School, sponsored by the Saugerties Organ Fund. A letter received from Mr. Smith reads, "I want to give them a show they'll never forget." Scheduled to appear with Mr. Smith is Larry Unthank who will play the drums. Tickets for the show are available in Saugerties at P. C. Smith's Hardware Store and in Kingston at the Kingston Music Center.

JEAN COATES HONORED—Douglas T. Yates, general chairman, and Jean Coates, R.N., 1968 poster nurse for the 89th annual United Hospital Fund campaign, help launch the drive at the opening dinner held recently in the Plaza Hotel in New York. Bernard Bucove, M.D., health services administrator of the City of New York, was the guest speaker. The United Hospital Fund campaign seeks to raise $3 million to help its 78 member voluntary hospitals expand their health services to meet the contemporary needs of the entire community. Miss Coates is head nurse in a surgical unit at St. Luke's Hospital Center, a Fund member hospital. Mr. Yates, who is vice president of the investment firm of White, Weld and Company, is a trustee of Lenox Hill Hospital and a director of the Fund. Miss Coates is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Coates, comptroller of Regional Broadcasters Group and Southwestern Broadcasters Inc., with offices at 601 Broadway, Kingston. Mrs. Coates first learned about her daughter's honor in a previous Freeman article. Jean had just forgotten to tell her mother about it!

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I bought several pieces of material to make suits. The pattern called for vests, so I just lined one vest with material to match the other suit.

I now have a reversible vest and it makes both my suits complete, saving the price of lining two vests.

Dear Heloise:

I store my iced tea in a plastic pitcher and it becomes quite stained after a bit.

To clean it, I use a silver polish paste and scrub it good. For the ridges and corners, I use a cotton-tipped stick. This does a marvelous job.

M. R. Hucker

Over the years, I've accumulated quite a conglomeration of sheets and pillowcases. Now I'm having fun mixing and matching them as you would your separate blouses and skirts!

For example: I use colored bottom sheet with a coordinated flowered top sheet, a flowered bottom sheet with a solid colored top sheet, a solid colored bottom sheet with a striped top sheet, and all white bottom sheets with a flowered or striped top sheet. You'll be surprised at the effect.

My beds are always attractive looking even for my guests. In fact, I have received many compliments.

Suppers

A fellowship supper will be held at the Glenford United Methodist Church Hall Thursday, Oct. 24, starting 6 p.m. A program of color slides with musical background will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Edward West of Phenicia.

It's amazing how accurate a watch can be, when it has a tuning fork.

The things that make a watch tick are the things that make a watch run wrong. Like its balance wheel. And mainspring and hairspring. So those things have been left out of the Accutron® timepiece. They've been replaced by a tiny tuning fork that hums. The tuning fork splits a second into more parts than the balance wheel movement ever dreamed of. 360 parts, to be exact. (The best a ticking watch can do is 5 or 10.) It's the tuning fork's uncanny precision that makes Accutron the most accurate timepiece you can wear. We're able to guarantee Accutron accuracy to within one minute a month. That's 2 seconds a day. And many owners say they're off only 1 second — or none at all. With accuracy like that, a watch has no business ticking when it could be humming. Accutron timepieces start at $110.00.

US Team Takes Commanding Medal Lead

GOBBLING UP THE GOLD—The United States Olympic team is gobbling up a lot of gold medals this year, and Mark Spitz and Don Schollander, who sparked the 800 meter freestyle relay win Monday show why. Spitz, in the water, gave Schollander, the world's fastest freestyler, a three foot lead going into the final lap. (UPI Telephoto)

They're turning into the Olympic home stretch and now the question is: is the United States building up a medals lead big enough to hold off Russia in the race for the unofficial, but very coveted, team championship?

With five full days of competition left, the race stands this way—the United States, picking up two gold medals in swimming and two in yachting Monday, now leads Russia in gold medals, 24-13, and in total medals, 66-39.

That's a substantial lead—but still to come are the finals in several sports in which the Soviets are expected to score heavily.

Net Since 1956

The United States has not won the overall medals championship in an Olympic Games since the Melbourne Olympics of 1956. Russia took over the unofficial team title in 1960 at Rome and held it at the Tokyo Olympics in 1964. But this time the United States has improved slightly on its Tokyo showing in track and is reaping its usual harvest in swimming, a sport which includes several new events.

There still are 19 gold medals to be decided in swimming—including three today—and the U.S. should get the lion's share of those. But gymnastics just started Monday, and that's always a Soviet stronghold. And the Russians are expected to score often in Greco-Roman wrestling which starts Wednesday in boxing, canoeing, fencing and a couple of others.

So it's very much up in the air, and the whole issue could be decided by a narrow margin—perhaps by some athlete who won't make the headlines but will be shooting for a sweep.

And in the men's 200-meter breaststroke, it will be Brian Job of Cortland, Ohio, and Phillip Long of Wayne, Pa.

There were nine medals at stake Monday in swimming, and since one race was a relay, the Yanks had a shot at seven. They won six—including gold medals by Doug Russell of Midland, Tex., in the men's 100-meter butterfly and the men's 800-meter relay of John Nelson of Pompano Beach, Fla., Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., Steve Rerych of Paterson, N.J., and 1964's four-gold medal winner, Don Schollander of Jacksonville, Fla.

Russell upset world record holder Spitz in 55.9 seconds in the finals of the butterfly and Ross Wales of Youngstown, Ohio, made it a sweep by taking the bronze medal. The relay team was clocked in 7:52.3, which was only two tenths over the world record.

But Lynette McClements of Australia blocked an American sweep of all three gold medals on Monday's program by taking the women's 100-meter butterfly over Ellie Daniel of Elkins Park, Pa., with Susie Shields of Louisville, Ky., third.

Two of Five

The United States won two of the five finals in yachting at the five finals in yachting at the luxurious Acapulco, some 250 miles from Mexico City, when Lowell North of San Diego, Calif., captured the Star Class, competition and George "Bud" Friedrichs of New Orleans skipped the winning boat in the Dragon Class.

The other yachting gold medals went to Great Britain in Flying Dutchman, Sweden in 5.5 meter and Russia in the Finn class.

Rounding out the U.S. total of 11 medals for the day were a silver medal in small bore rifle shooting by Army Lt. John Writer of La Grange, Ill., a silver medal in team dressage in equestrian and a bronze medal for individual dressage in equestrian by Michael Page of Briarcliff, N.Y.

However, the United States lost two meetings with Russia in preliminary games—the U.S. men's water polo team losing to Russia 8-3, and the Yank women's volleyball team bowing 3-1.

The United States faces a critical basketball game tonight against Brazil and Coach Hank Iba warned his men they must improve to win.

In addition to swimming, basketball and gymnastics, other sports on the Tuesday program are boxing, canoeing, fencing, soccer, shooting and water polo.

Smith and Carlos Arrive in L. A.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Tommie Smith and John Carlos, two of the world's great sprinters, finished in a dead heat today with newsmen and nobody claimed any medals.

The pair arrived back in the United States Monday after being shipped home from Mexico City by the United States Olympic Committee for giving the "Black Power" salute while on the victory stand last Wednesday.

The first stop of their controversial exit from Mexico City was Los Angeles on Monday when they arrived via Western Air Lines and raced past newsmen, finally gaining a station wagon after Smith had gone in a wrong direction.

A similar attempt to evade reporters failed after they reached the Sa Jose airport via United Airlines. They reached a waiting car but had to return to the baggage room and identify their luggage. There they had a brief colloquy with reporters and broadcasters. "Have you got a flag in your pocket?" Carlos answered one reporter who asked if he would stand for the National Anthem. "I'm not concerned about the National Anthem. It was written for white people."

Smith said he felt that the majority of Mexicans sympathized with their "Black Power" demonstration.

"We have a lot of supporters down there," Smith said.

Smith added he was uncertain about his plans but that he had been drafted by the Los Angeles Rams.

The famed sprinter said he was scheduled to receive his teaching credentials at San Jose State if he remains there. Carlos said he also had returned to San Jose to resume college. Smith wore a brown sport coat over a blue turtleneck shirt and beads. Carlos was attired in a blue baseball-type of cap, blue shirt and brown slacks.

Bob Seagren, the gold medal winner in the pole vault, arrived about an hour and a half ahead of the sprinters in Los Angeles. Asked about their salute, Seagren said:

"It was kind of cheap of them. If it wasn't for the United States, they wouldn't have been there. I don't think it was very proper. If they don't like the United States, they can always leave."

APG Signs

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—One of the major fixtures on the annual pro golf tour, the $100,000 Los Angeles Open, announced Monday it will sign with the new American Professional Golfers Association to provide players for the tournament Jan. 8-12.

The APG broke away from the Professional Golfers' Association in a dispute over handling of the pro golf tour and the APG announced it would make its own arrangements with sponsors.

The Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the Los Angeles Open, said Monday its board of directors voted to sign a contract with the APG after making an unsuccessful attempt to bring the rival groups together.

"We gave the International Golf Sponsors Association our backing in trying to get the two organizations together. The IGSA was unsuccessful and told members to make their own decisions," chamber president Jim Gilleran said.

Gilleran reported he has received assurance from Gardner Dickinson, president of the APG, that most of the top 75 money winners would play in the Los Angeles Open.

There was a report from Las Vegas, Nev., during the Sahara Invitational last week that more than 30 sponsors of major tournaments either have signed or are about to sign up with the APG to provide players for their events.

Basketball Roundup Bullets Hold, Oaks Romp

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Led by Leroy Ellis and Earl Monroe, the Baltimore Bullets held off a late Seattle rally to down the Sonics 111-104 here Monday night in a National Basketball Association game before 2,387 fans.

Ellis hauled down 19 rebounds and finished with 24 points while Monroe also had 24 on 10 field goals and four from the free throw line.

Ellis collected seven of his rebounds in the final quarter as Seattle closed to within eight points of the winners.

Veteran Tom Meschery led Seattle and took game honors with 30 points while second-year man Bob Rule hit 25 and Lenny Wilkens, obtained in a trade for Walt Hazzard last week, finished with 22 points.

Baltimore built up a 56-46 halftime bulge and then held off the Sonics, winless in five games, the rest of the way. Baltimore now has a 3-1 record.

The turning point came in the third quarter when a fresh Jim Eakins began making the 11 baskets of the second half, literally wearing down Red Robbins, his defender.

The game score was tied 12 times and the lead changed hands 15 times in the furious play.

Because of their victory the Oaks are now 3-0 while this was the first game of the season for the Bucks. The Bucks attack was sparked by the Jones boys, with Steve getting 28 and Jimmy 25.

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The U.S. Olympic swimming team goes after three more gold medals today, but it is in the unfamiliar position of being underdogs in two races.

At stake are the medals in the men's 100-meter backstroke, the 200-meter women's freestyle and the 200-meter men's breaststroke.

The favorite in the backstroke is Roland Matthes of East Germany, the world record holder, but Charles Hickcox of Phoenix, Ariz., is in the field and he is in great form. He already has won a medley gold medal.

The favorite in the breaststroke is Russia's world record holder, Vladimir Kosinsky, but Phil Long of Wayne, Pa., had excellent times in Monday's trial heats.

In the women's 200-meter freestyle, it's a battle for the gold between two U.S. stars, with Debbie Meyer of Sacramento, Calif., favored and Jan Henne of Oakland, Calif., the 100-meter freestyle gold medalist, a real threat.

The U.S. won two more gold medals Monday night, six more medals in all, and now has won 11 of a possible 14 golds and 27 of the 36 medals possible so far. For the entire swimming and diving program, 99 medals are offered, and the U.S. in pre-Olympic estimates had expected to win half. It is far over that average and has swept four events, a feat never accomplished previously.

Early in the games, the predominately Mexican crowds at the 10,000 seat, brand-new Olympic Pool cheered for the U.S. rivals, understandably placing their sympathy with the underdogs.

But the U.S. team has been so impressive and its athletes so gracious in victory and in their few defeats that the crowds, in tribute to the abilities of the U.S. youngsters, now cheer them as strongly as the others. Or almost as strongly.

Probably Lynette McClements of Australia got the loudest cheers Monday night when she beat Ellie Daniel of Elkins Park, Pa., in the 100-meter butterfly final. The U.S. had won six events preceding this one. Miss McClements was timed in 1:05.5, Miss Daniel in 1:05.8 and bronze medal winner Susie Shields of Louisville, Ky. in 1:06.2.

The U.S. swept the men's 100-meter butterfly with Doug Russell of Midland, Tex., upsetting world record holder Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., 55.9 seconds to 56.4, with Ross Wales of Youngstown, Ohio, taking the bronze in 57.2. Spitz' world mark is 55.6.

In the 800-meter men's freestyle relay, the U.S. got a scare from a good Australian team, but anchor man Don Schollander of Jacksonville, Fla., held off Mike Wenden, the 100-meter freestyle gold medal winner for a U.S. victory in 7:52.3, missing the world record 7:52.1 set by a U.S. team anchored by Schollander in the Tokyo Olympics.

Also on today's program are the women's 100-meter backstroke trials and semifinals, in which Elaine Tanner of Canada and Kaye Hall of Tacoma, Wash. are favored; the women's 200-meter backstroke trials, with Lyn Watson of Australia added to Tanner and Hall; the 800-meter women's freestyle trials, an event regarded as sure for Miss Meyer; the men's 400-meter freestyle trials, in which Mike Burton of Carmichael, Calif., Ralf Hutton of Canada and Guillermo Echevarria of Mexico are favored, and the men's 400 meter individual medley trials, with Hickcox, Andrei Dunev of Russia and Sandy Gilchrist of Canada.

There also will be the opening dives in the women's platform, with Lesley Bush of Princeton, N. J., defending against Galina Alexeeva of Russia, and Milena Duchkova of Russia, among others.

US Squad Faces Brazil Tonight

By MICHAEL RABUN

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The man in the middle and the man on the spot when the United States meets Brazil in the Olympic basketball semifinals tonight will be Spencer Haywood, and coach Hank Iba.

Haywood, who has scored 27 and 21 points in the last two American contests and since he is so important to the United States effort, Iba can recite his every good point and bad point.

And the only bad point he has found thus far is a touch of nervousness.

"He was nervous against the Yugoslavians," says Iba. "He was nervous the entire game and never did get over it."

But Iba is not as worried about Haywood being nervous as he is about him getting tired.

"Not only do we have to get a good effort out of Haywood, we have to get a god effort out of Ken Spain to give Spencer a little rest," said Iba.

Spain, of the University of Houston, has been used sparingly in the first seven games.

The Trojans were named the top team in college football by the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches today, receiving 20 first place votes and 325 points. The total was only 11 more than runnerup Ohio State as only 100 points separated the first seven ranked teams in the nation.

Kansas (264) moved up to third past Penn State (252) while Notre Dame (181) and Tennessee (178) slipped past Purdue (126). Georgia (109) took eighth, Miami (Fla.) was ninth with 38 points and Syracuse (27) edged Missouri for the No. 10 ranking.

Cokes Wins In Welter

NEW ORLEANS, La. (UPI)—Cokes of Dallas successfully defended his world welterweight title Monday night by punching out a unanimous 15-round decision over challenger Ramon LaCruz of Argentina.

Judge Eddie Brown scored the bout 11-3-1 for the champion, Referee Herman Dutrieux had it 11-3-1 for Cokes and Judge Pete Giarrusso had it 11-3-1 in favor of the Texan.

"The guy has a real awkward style and I had a difficult time fighting him," the champ said after the fight. "It was a bad fight because of his style," Cokes added.

Cokes concentrated throughout the bout in working over LaCruz' head with vicious left jabs. Cokes kept the jabs up opening a cut over his right eyebrow and cutting his mouth.

LaCruz fought with a dancing style that sometimes had him crouching with one knee nearly touching the canvas. At times when LaCruz was nearly kneeling, Cokes flicked out his left jab and stung the Argentine with it.

In the seventh round, Cokes pressed the attack with his left hand to LaCruz' head, following with a vicious right uppercut to the challenger's jaw, then landed three fast rights in succession.

LaCruz twisted away but was in trouble the rest of the fight.

"He hit me one good punch in the middle rounds, but it really didn't hurt," LaCruz said. "He's a good strong boy, but I was in better shape. I finished stronger."

"I felt as good at the end as I did at the beginning," the battered Argentine said.

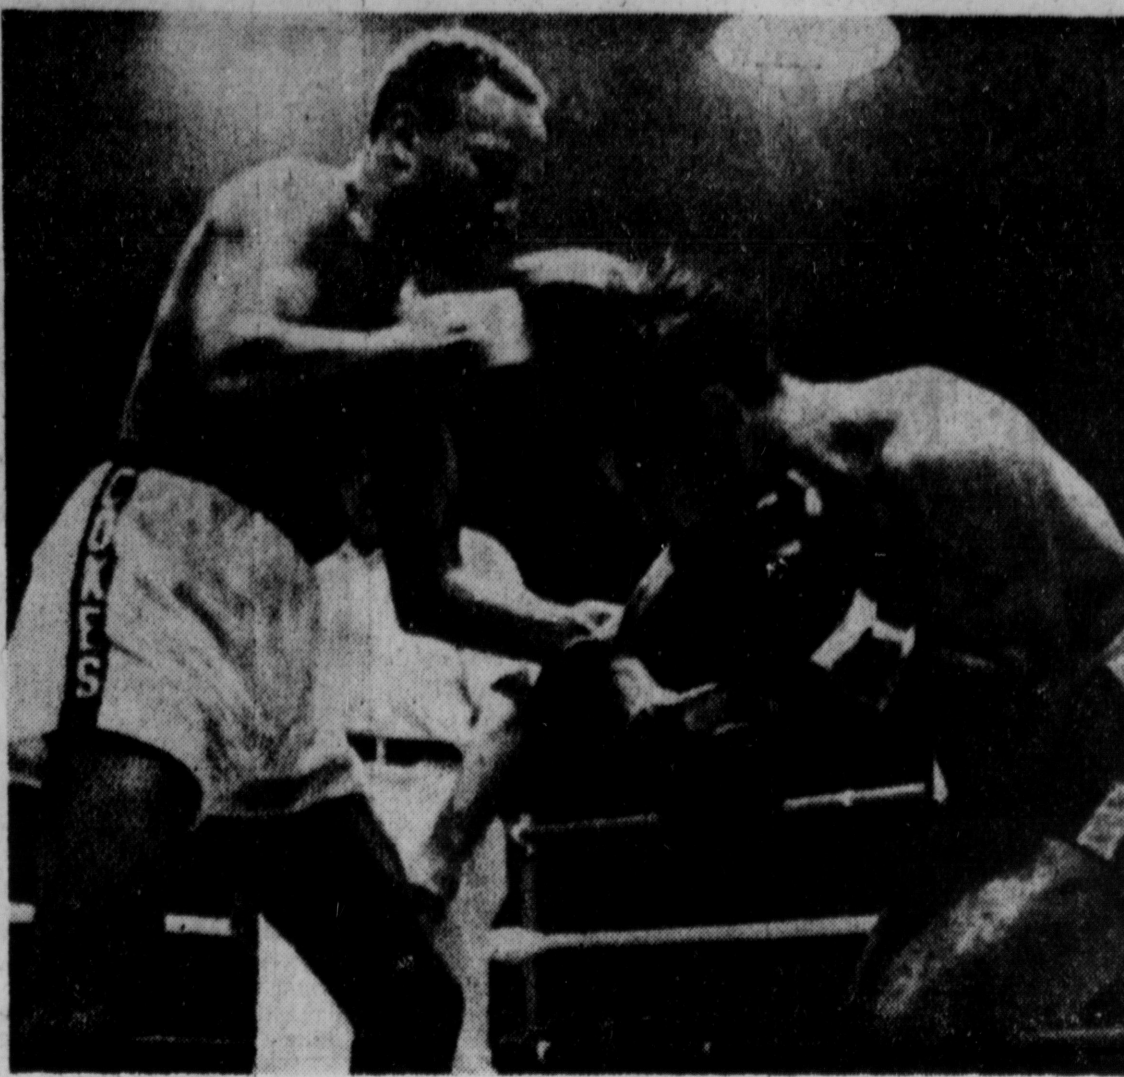

Cokes said he wasn't as sharp as he has been.

"I hit him with a good solid right upper cut in the seventh round, but he seemed to want to fight at a real slow pace," Cokes said. "I tried to step things up in the seventh."

Cokes said he didn't think LaCruz was as good a fighter as was Gene Johnson. "He hurt me only once and that was with a low punch," Cokes said.

Cokes was unmarked after the fight, but LaCruz displayed a swollen lip and forehead.

Cokes said he was no worse for wear than when the 15 rounds began.

Middies Jolt KHS 5-3 DUSO Soccer

KINGSTON — The Kingston High School soccer team's hopes for a DUSO championship this year took a sharp drop here yesterday when the Maroons were crushed by Middletown 5-3.

Led by inside right Giuseppe Bruni's three-goal "hat trick," the Middies hiked their record to 5-1 on the season and moved a full game and a half out in front of 3-2 Kingston with only two league contests left.

Middletown's standout center halfback Rusty Prindle clicked on a corner kick from right wing Neal Novesky with only 3:23 gone on the first period clock, but the tough Maroon squad dug in, holding the Blue and White scoreless until well into the second half.

But midway in the third period the Middies surged in front 3-0 when Bruni took a pass from Vince Fratto with a perfect lead pass at the penalty line.

Scotty Phillips converted a penalty kick with 9:58 gone on the third period clock, to help close the gap for Kingston but Bruni countered with an unassisted tally at 12:45.

The Italian-born forward hit his third goal a little more than a minute after the fourth period had opened, again unassisted as the Middies sat back and tried to hold on.

Trailing by four goals, the Maroon seemed to come to life about the middle of the final frame, as Dieter Rauscher, switched from goalie to right wing early in the third period, slammed a 15-yarder past Middletown goalie Don Boyer and then converted a penalty kick.

Middletown outshot Kingston 25-11 as Boyer was credited with nine saves, Rauscher four, and substitute goalie Gary Shantz, three.

UCCC Prepares for Title Defense

By DENNIS R. CARO (Freeman Sports Staff)

STONE RIDGE With its first game more than a month away, the Ulster County Community College basketball team begins practicing in earnest this week as coach Mike Perry tries to build a squad that can duplicate last year's Mid-Hudson Conference championship.

There are no returning veterans from that championship team, which compiled a 10-9 conference record and went 24-3 overall leading the nation on offense with a 114.5 points per game average.

Joe Uhl, with his 35 point per game average, is a Kingston area insurance salesman. Bill Zilliox has gone to Bryant College. Rod Chando to East Stroudsburg State and Howie Mayfield to Brockport. Frank Roselli and Stan Henderson will start at East Stroudsburg in January.

And all five freshmen that made the team last year are on academic probation this term and ineligible to play.

Twenty-two freshmen turned over for the team last week, and Monday Perry said he had picked 13 who should make a team that is bigger, faster and more balanced than last year.

Whether or not it will be better is a question that will have to wait for an answer.

The schedule is a lot tougher this year, with the addition of non-conference games against the West Point Plebes and St. John's University freshman as well as Manhattan Community College and Baltimore and Montgomery Junior Colleges on a two day trip through Maryland.

"We could be starting the season with five losses," Perry said.

Jerry Moss, a six foot one inch guard from Bryant High School in Queens, who was named to the All-New York City squad by the New York Post last year heads the list of potential starters, followed by a quartet from Brooklyn's Eastern District High School. Eastern District took the City championships two years ago, and guard Jesse Larrier and forwards Bill Gay, Ken Williams and Cecil Foster played key roles.

Gay, a six foot seven inch 250 pounder will probably see action at center, Perry said.

Ray Lindhorst, Kingston High School's standout center is expected to get his share of playing time as will Charlie Moore an exceptional guard at Ontario several years ago.

Marshall O'Neill, a six foot four inch guard from New Paltz High School rounds out the list of area candidates for the starting team.

Liberty Rips Pine Bush 28-7 In UCAL Clash

LIBERTY — The Liberty High School football team got back on the winning track here Monday with a 28-7 decision over Pine Bush.

Indian quarterback Kurt Wohltjen subsequently heaved a 25 yard scoring pass, his only completion of the game, to Dan Yuan.

The resurging Bushmen came right back on the third Liberty kickoff, however, taking the ball 60 yards on nine plays with Gary Silco's 19 yard run the clincher.

The Indians, who are averaging almost 300 yards on the ground per game, picked up 292 against Pine Bush but were not able to cash in on another scoring opportunity until the fourth quarter.

Fleckenstein scrambled 26 yards into the end zone to clinch a 63 yard drive early in the final frame and as the game went into its closing minutes the Indians recovered their fourth Pine Bush fumble, this one on the Bushman 39.

Liberty used 11 plays to score its final touchdown, with Dan Foley blasting his way in from nine yards out and Gary Bradley kicked his fourth extra point of the afternoon.

Statistics of Liberty-Pine Bush game:

	Lib.	P. Bush
First downs	18	5
Yards rushing	292	70
Yards passing	25	27
Passes	14	4-5
Passes int. by	1	0

4-H Achievement Night on Friday

Rondout Valley Central School will be the scene of the annual Ulster County 4-H Achievement Night program. This event is scheduled Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The program, which ends one 4-H year and signifies the start of another, will give recognition to 4-Hers who have completed one or more projects during the past year.

Each eligible 4-H member will receive a certificate and an achievement pin made available through the New York State Banker's Association.

Ivan Warren, Ulster County banker, will make the presentation.

After achievement presentations, special county program awards will be announced including the homemaking award trip to New York City, the agricultural honor award trip to the city, capitol day at Albany, and state 4-H congress at Cornell University.

These awards are made on the basis of the members' total achievement and accomplishments. Last year's delegates will be present to explain the highlights and educational opportunities they experienced.

SBA Loans for Two in County

The Small Business Administration announced today that two Ulster County business enterprises have received financial assistance under its Economic Opportunity Loan Program.

Also, final announcements will be made of 4-H members receiving recognition for achievement in various areas such as clothing, foods, dairy, horse, garden, and leadership. These members will receive special county achievement pins.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brinsku of New Paltz doing business as Skipeen Chicken received a $10,000 loan to expand their food service establishment. Darrell R. Johnson of West Camp received a $12,000 loan to establish a fire extinguisher company.

These loans were two of the loans granted after the latest series of field interviews held in Kingston by William Tierney and David Offenber of the SBA.

Tierney will be available to assist interested persons and businessmen today at the Farmers Home Administration Offices at 243 Fair Street. Persons interested should phone the FHA office for an appointment.

HONORS—Ivan Warren (L), key banker from Valley National Bank, Wallkill, Modena Branch, presents certificate to Miss Anna Devine, 38-year 4-H worker from Rifton. Chester Elliott Sr. is the 4-H leader from Plutarch. The two were among others honored at a dinner held at the SRS Home in Cottekill. (Freeman photo by Powell.)

Clark Predicts Growth Of New Crime Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, charged by Republicans with being lax on law and order, says the beginning operation of a federal agency marks a "new era in criminal justice."

Clark, commenting Monday at the swearing in of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration's top three officials, predicted swift growth for the agency from a $63-million start to a billion-dollar operation.

"This ceremony marks the beginning of a new era in criminal justice," Clark said. "It is the major opportunity of this century to fully professionalize law enforcement, modernize the judiciary and provide improvements in the corrections field." The agency, set up under the omnibus crime control bill passed by Congress in June, also will channel funds to local and state law enforcers to train and equip personnel and upgrade salaries.

Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court officiated at the ceremony outside Clark's office at which agency's administrator Patrick V. Murphy and associate administrators Wesley A. Pomeroy and Dr. Ralph G. H. Siu, took the oaths of office.

The three men were given interim appointments by President Johnson after the Senate Judiciary Committee failed to act on their nominations. Introducing the three new agency officials, the attorney general said their appointment brings proven ability, immense knowledge ... and progressive leadership to bear on the challenge of crime in America.

Murphy is former director of public safety in the District of Columbia. Pomeroy was a special assistant to Clark while Siu, a Hawaii scientist, is a former official in the U.S. Army Materiel Command.

REFRESHER DRILL—Two Ulster Hose Co. No. 5 firemen are shown wearing proximity suits and extinguishing an oil fire with high expansion foam during a refresher drill held recently. The men were under the direction of Chief William Williams Jr. and other line officers. The ladies auxiliary served lunch to the firemen during the day-long drills.

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

Oct. 22, 1948 — A Kingston man reported to police that someone had taken part of a bird bath from his property during the night.

The Charter Revision Commission of Kingston was dissolved. Its members were let go with the thanks of the city for work on revision of the 50-year-old City Charter.

Oct. 22, 1958 — Some 36 seniors from Saugerties High School took the New York State Regents Scholarship exams, it was reported.

Former Poughkeepsian Charged With Murder

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—An award-winning University of Florida professor was arrested at his home Monday and charged with murdering his wife of 33 years with a .357 magnum pistol.

John Kiker Jr., 62, professor and chairman of the bioenvironmental sciences engineering department at the university and a former resident of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., was charged with murdering Mrs. Mary Hayes Kiker, 58. He was jailed without bond.

"We can find no motive for the shooting," said detective Lt. Roy Thames. "He has made no statement and it appears neighbors might be running from us."

Thames said Mrs. Kiker was found dead on the bathroom floor with a single bullet wound about eight inches under her left arm when the professor summoned police and an ambulance.

Kiker, who came here to teach in 1947 from Poughkeepsie where he worked with the State Health Department, attended Georgia Tech, New York University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a native of Americus, Ga.

The Kikers were married in 1935 and have three children: Joan Elizabeth Kiker, 24; Mrs. Carol Kiker Townsend, 22; and John E. Kiker III, 18. The professor is president-elect of the Florida section of the American Society of Civil Engineers and received the section's award as "engineer of the year" in 1967 for his work in sewerage engineering. He was the subject of a cover feature in Public Works magazine in March, 1964.

White Hunters Ordered to Leave Reservation

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. (AP)—Shoshone Indians, in full war paint and carrying rifles, are creeping up on white hunters and ordering them off the reservation.

"They looked up and saw us, and that was enough," said John Pope, an Indian also known as "Rolling Thunder," as he described one "raid" Monday. "One man's mouth was moving but nothing came out. I gave them 15 minutes to get off the reservation. They made it."

Pope, a spokesman for the Shoshones, clamed the white hunters "are wasting deer while our people go hungry."

The Shoshones, led by Chief Frank Temoke, began the scare technique last week. Pope said five groups of white hunters have been run off the reservation—in the Ruby Valley near Elko.

Pope was here with Stanley Smart, an Indian convicted Oct. 11 and fined $100 for hunting and possession of deer out of season.

Smart filed an appeal Monday, contending that as an Indian he has the right to hunt regardless of seasons set by the white man, on or off the reservation. State game protectors said Smart was not on the reservation when arrested.

Pope said the Indians intend to keep white hunters off the reservation. He declined to say how many Indians were in the "scare party," but said their rifles were unloaded.

"We intend to close all of the eastern Nevada reservation land to white hunters and fishermen," said Pope. "We're not making threats to anyone. We believe in law and we believe in justice. We only want to gather food for our people."

AF Man, Child Die in Accident; Wife Loses Foot

CHATHAM, Ont. (UPI)—The wife of a Plattsburgh, N.Y., Air Force sergeant was recovering in a hospital in Chatham, Ont., today after losing a foot in an automobile accident that claimed the life of her husband and one of their children.

Sgt. William H. Laney, 32, and his daughter Angela, 9, were killed late Friday when the Laney family car skidded and hit a cement abutment in heavy rain east of this southern Ontario town.

Dear Abby

Does He Need Firm Hand?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My son (I'll call him "George") is 30 and has been under psychiatric treatment for some time. He is able to work and there is nothing wrong with him physically, but he's lazy.

George is single and has never been married. He complains of not having any friends. His mother and I can't do a thing with him. If we offer any suggestions, he flares up.

George is very good-looking, has a fine personality, can dance, play the piano and he has had 2 years of college.

Now, here's where you come in. Can you help me find a domineering gal who could re-motivate my son and get him functioning again? Thanks for any help you can give me.

DISTRESSED FATHER
DEAR FATHER: I don't know the nature of your son's problems, but it's a pretty good guess that he lacks confidence in himself as a result of having a father who would like to provide all the answers, serve as a "buffer," and practically live his son's life for him. Since George is seeing a psychiatrist, don't interfere. Perhaps the LAST thing your son needs is a "domineering gal" to take over where a domineering father left off.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter-in-law, and I love her dearly. She has three children under 6 years old. She is a lovely person, but she's the world's worst housekeeper. She doesn't get up when the children do, so they pull out drawers, wreck the closets, and climb on the furniture. I am afraid something terrible will happen to them while she's sleeping.

She has an automatic washer and dryer, but she has no routine. She buys plenty of clothes for the kiddies, but they never have anything to wear. She keeps her shades drawn all day, which isn't good for the children's eyes. I don't know what she does at night, but she sleeps most of the day. My son travels a lot for his business, so he probably doesn't know how much of this goes on. What shall I do? I hate to tell my son. It would worry him to death.

GREEN BAY
DEAR GREEN BAY: Tell your son, and don't worry about "worrying" him. Something is wrong with this woman. She could be either sick or drinking. Or both.

DEAR ABBY: I am in a situation that most guys would not consider a problem — they would probably be relieved, but it's a problem to me.

I have been dating this wonderful girl for about a year now. I love her very much, and she claims to love me, but listen to this:

Last week her roommate told me that my girl was pregnant, so I went to her immediately and told her I knew, and wanted to marry her. She turned me down! She said that her having a baby was a poor reason to get married — that she doesn't ever want me to feel that I HAD to marry her!

She wants to stop seeing me until after she has the baby, then she says if I still want to marry her she will marry me.

In the meantime she wants to continue to work, and she doesn't intend to "hide" anything. What do you say?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: I say I think your girl is a bit too lofty to be on the level.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Burned," the bridesmaid who was annoyed because the bride called off the wedding 4 days before it was to have taken place, after all the bridesmaids had already "forked out" money for their gowns.

Miss Burned is indeed the most selfish person who has ever written to you. Instead of thinking of her own pocketbook, why didn't she consider the bride-to-be? Did it ever occur to her that the poor girl probably suffered many sleepless nights before she finally gathered the courage to call the wedding off?

Three years ago, I was a bridesmaid for a girl who went thru with the wedding (with doubts in her mind) because she didn't have the courage to call it off. The marriage lasted only

3 months. I would have been much happier today knowing I was out $40, and that a certain young divorcee was either single or happily married to someone else. Sign this—

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, OCT. 23, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Some financial pressure is relieved. You make decision which lightens load. Fact that you decide causes you to feel better. Not wise to hold back. Study and write. Make known your views.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Study ARIES message. Money spent today could result in bargain. Takes patience, but you can effect saving, ask questions. You can obtain necessary answers. Act accordingly.

GENI (May 21-June 20): Cement relations with those important to your future. Don't be too quick to decide. Some who may anger you really are worthwhile. If it's flattery you seek, go elsewhere.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Understand one who performs special service. You may be expecting too much. Realize some could be overextending themselves. Your job today is to balance, outline, formalize a plan.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Expect added responsibility. Good lunar aspect accents romance, creative activity, relations with children. Remember past promises, resolutions. Conditions change — but not that much.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Finish task. Be aware of future implications. Long-range investment possibility deserves consideration. Don't jump to conclusions. Analyze facts, figures. Fine for move which builds solid base.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): New approach to dealing with relatives may be essential. Examine various possibilities. Be flexible, versatile. Short journey could be on agenda. Check messages. Be positive of motives.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):

Accent on how you handle monetary affairs. You could acquire property of value. Key is to follow through on knowledge. Hunch could pay dividends. One who aided in past reappears.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cycle moves up. People compliment you on appearance. You are encouraged. Take initiative. Strive for independence, originality. Adhere to your own style. Circumstances favor your efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Delay indicated. Don't rush. Someone behind the scenes holds up efforts. Realize this. Don't blame wrong individual. All facts are not yet counted. If patient, results will prove beneficial.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Exchange ideas. Communicate. Personal magnetism rating goes up. People are attracted and will listen. You get chance to put across viewpoint. Change due. Accent on friends, social event.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Respect opinions of others. But stand up for principles. Adhere to golden rule. You are going to gain, but in doing so refuse to discard integrity. There is room at the top — proceed.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a natural investigator, would make fine reporter, detective. You are able to delve deep and get to heart of matters. Recent confusion will evaporate. You will be on solid ground.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for SAGITTARIUS, CAPRICORN. Special word to GEMINI: worthwhile individual deserves praise — give it. Opening lead—♥ 6

The Card School in New York has been teaching bridge for a long time. The expert players who head the staff have devised a questionnaire to determine whether or not a prospective pupil belongs in an elementary, intermediate or advanced class.

Today's hand covers the one question on play. They show their pupil the North and South hands and ask, "West opens the six of hearts against your three no-trump contract. What card do you play from dummy?"

The answer to the question is that you play the king of hearts. There is an old rule of second hand low but this is the time to break that rule because if you play the eight from dummy you are getting no value out of the king.

The way we have set up the hand the king will hold. Then all South has to do in order to insure his contract is to lead the jack of diamonds from dummy and let it ride. If the finesse works, South will make at least 10 tricks. If it fails, South is still sure to wind up with his contract since he can now count on a minimum of two spades, one heart, four diamonds and two clubs.

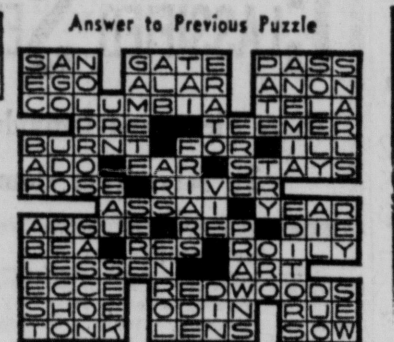

Change the hand around so that East holds the ace of hearts. He will take the king with it and return the suit.

In this case South must let the defense hold the second heart. He will be forced to win the third heart lead but as long as West opened a four-or-five-card suit, South will be sure of his contract. He will simply finesse against West in diamonds. If the finesse works, he makes at least 10 tricks; if it loses he makes at least nine.

Of course, it is possible that West opened a three-card heart suit and that East held five hearts to the ace and the queen of diamonds. In that case South would not make his contract but that sort of opening lead is most unusual.

redoubtable (ree-DOOT-uh-b'l) fearsome
The military commander, realizing the enemy forces were led by a redoubtable general, decided to ask his staff for help in planning the next battle. After listening to an eyewitness' account of a recent robbery, the police captain concluded that only a redoubtable person could have committed the crime. The tough-looking Army sergeant, a man whose redoubtable reputation struck fear in the hearts of the recruits, believed that every new soldier should prove himself a man.

'Spain'—A Thing of Beauty

NEW YORK (AP) — The story of men and death in civil war.

Through all the hour, Hemingway wrote romantically and hauntingly was shown with perception and great beauty in ABC's special program Monday night.

A travelogue, perhaps, but it was disguised handsomely by the technique of quoting descriptive passages while the camera's eye traveled the mountain, village street or vista as if seen by the author as he wrote.

A Poetic Quality
With Jason Robards setting the scenes from Hemingway's books and with Rod Steiger reading the prose warmly, the program often had a poetic quality.

First—and typical of the whole—there was the story of the hero's death blowing up the bridge in "For Whom the Bell Tolls." We saw the bridge and the trees, serene in summer sunlight as Steiger's quiet voice told the story of men and death in civil war. This was strictly for the very young viewers, a simple, imaginative animal story. The animation, while rather primitive, were carbons of the drawings in the original De Brunhoff books.

Slim Lead for NBC
NBC moved into a slim lead in the Nielsen ratings race in a report on programs shown between Oct. 7 and 13. NBC built up a rating of 19.1, with CBS ahead in earlier weeks—second with 18.5, and ABC, 15.2. Top 10 programs were, in order: NBC's Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In, CBS's Mayberry.

Gomer Pyle and Family Affair, NBC's Bonanza, CBS's Here's Lucy, movie rerun "Glass Bottom Boat" and Beverly Hillsbillies and NBC's Ironside.

Recommended tonight:
"Istanbul Express," NBC, 9-11 EDT, first of the network's new batch of movies made for TV, secret agent stuff on a train with Gene Barry conquering all; "60 Minutes," CBS, 10-11, magazine format news show with interviews with Hubert H. Humphrey and George C. Wallace.

HHH Welcomes Connally, Predicts Victory in Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in a tight race with Republican Richard M. Nixon for Texas' 25 electoral votes, welcomed Gov. John Connally to his presidential campaign today and predicted he would win the state in November.

Connally, who sat out an earlier Humphrey campaign tour, has since joined Sen. Ralph Yarborough, leader of a liberal Democratic party wing long at odds with Connally, in support of Humphrey.

"When you've got John Connally and Ralph Yarborough on your side how can you lose?" said Humphrey in remarks prepared for an airport rally at Fort Worth.

Polls taken by the Democrats show Humphrey leading Nixon by two to four percentage points and widening his lead. But the Republicans have polls showing Nixon ahead and most observers rate the state a toss-up.

Third party candidate George C. Wallace is also running strong in Texas with polls giving him 20 to 25 per cent of the vote.

Humphrey criticized Wallace, saying he "dishes out some mighty tough talk about law and order and claims to be the friend of the working man. If it weren't so serious, it would be ridiculous."

Humphrey said that when Wallace was governor of Alabama the state had the highest murder rate in the country and the third lowest wages for its working people.

"He was a union-busting governor, and you know it," Humphrey said.

Humphrey, who campaigned Monday in New York City on a rising note of optimism, shrugged off the latest national opinion sampling which showed Nixon still with a commanding

"I have a lot of experience," he said. "I know the smell of victory and the odious odor of defeat. Let me tell you, as surely as I stand before you, that the scent of victory is in the air."

Humphrey addressed the $1,000-a-plate dinner after a busy day of campaigning mostly in Jewish sections of Brooklyn in an effort to keep Democratic voters in the area from defecting because of the law and order issue.

The dinner brought an estimated $748,000 in Humphrey's campaign fund.

Nixon on Humphrey: 'Adult Delinquency'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is starting to take off the gloves in his battle with Hubert H. Humphrey, accusing his Democratic rival of "adult delinquency" and terming him "the do-nothing candidate of law and order."

The Republican presidential candidate, stopping here overnight before putting his campaign on rails with an Ohio whistlestop tour today, termed his Cincinnati stopover "the critical turning point" in his vote quest.

Nixon told a crowd of more than 15,000 in Cincinnati Gardens Monday night that "we're going to pour it on" in the final two weeks of the campaign.

Then he recalled a Humphrey statement of two years ago—at a time of widespread racial violence—that if Humphrey had lived in slum conditions he could "lead a mighty good revolt" himself.

Nixon said: "That is adult delinquency and not worthy of the vice president of the United States."

In an accompanying formal statement, Nixon said a vote for

Humphrey would be "a vote to continue a lackadaisical, do-nothing attitude toward the crime crisis in America."

"The peace and security of the American people demand the defeat of Hubert Humphrey in November," he added.

These statements added up to Nixon's strongest direct assaults to date against the Democratic candidate.

Many Hurt in Japan Riots

TOKYO (AP) — Nearly 1,000 students were arrested and at least 150 injured in a wild nationwide series of antiwar riots and demonstrations Monday.

A four-hour rampage at Tokyo's Shinjuku railway station was one of the city's worst riots in years and authorities invoked an antiriot law for the first time in 16 years. The law provides for imprisonment from six months to 10 years.

The major labor unions claimed 800,000 persons took part in some 600 demonstrations across Japan. It was the unions' third Antiwar Day observance. Police said at least 757 students had been arrested in Tokyo, while lesser disturbances resulted in the arrest of 93 in Osaka, 31 in Fukuoka, 18 in Aichi and 12 in Hokkaido.

Much of Tokyo's Shinjuku station was a shambles after 6,000 students attacked it. The station is a key link between suburban and central lines, and thousands of commuters were delayed as workers tried to clear away debris and get trains moving again. The first morning train was delayed four hours.

The students used heavy logs to batter down 10-foot-high steel walls that police had put up around the station Sunday to protect it.

A bus was burned in front of the station, and the huge plaza was filled with helmeted students carrying red, yellow and purple flags and by spectators booing or encouraging the students.

An American Buddhist priest,

Brian Victoria, 28, of Omaha, Neb., said he burned his U.S. Air Force discharge papers in front of the station as a protest against "U.S. support of reactionary governments."

Some 3,000 riot police fired tear gas at the rock-throwing rioters.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato issued a statement backing the police and promising that the government would deal harshly with such riots in the future.

The students said they attacked the station to obstruct the shipment of aviation fuel and other supplies for the U.S. Air Force bases at Yokota and Tachikawa.

Some 1,200 students also attacked the headquarters of the Japanese Defense Agency but were repelled by riot police using tear gas and high pressure water hoses.

Another 100 students briefly broke into the parliament grounds, and several bystanders were burned by sulfuric acid thrown by a student.

About 500 students were beaten back by police as they tried to invade the U.S. Embassy.

Tree Down

Workmen from the city Department of Public Works joined a crew from Central Hudson Gas and Electric to remove the remains of a tree that fell on John Street at the corner of Clinton Avenue yesterday shortly after noon. The fallen tree struck a parked car of John Garofala parked on the street. No one was in the vehicle at the time and authorities said the hood of the car was damaged. Central Hudson and New York Telephone lines were cut along the street and crews were rushed to the scene along with DPW equipment and men to get things back to normal. Telephone crews were still at work this morning on John Street, according to a company spokesman. Traffic was disrupted until past 2 p. m., as the tree parts were strewn across the street. Wallace and College Hecklers-- First Major Farm Talk Broken Up OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — George C. Wallace had an encounter Monday night with college student hecklers whose noisy outbursts broke up his first major farm policy speech of the presidential campaign.

Finally Gave Up
In a loud voice, amplified by a public address system, Wallace tried to drown out approximately 200 protesting students at Moline, Ill., but finally gave up. The third-party candidate told his followers in the crowd in the heart of the farm belt that they could read about the farm program in their newspapers or hear it on radio or television newscasts.

The 10-point farm program included a proposed ceiling on subsidy payments to "giant corporate farm structures" and recommended government loans to finance grain warehouse co-operatives.

Wallace also criticized the Republican and Democratic parties in outlining the program. He said that because of "government mismanagement, experimentation and, worst of all, unconcern," farmers are worse off economically than at any time since the 1930s.

The years since Hubert H. Humphrey became vice president in 1965 "probably will go down... as the worst four years American agriculture has ever experienced," Wallace said.

He promised to bring farm prices up to 100 per cent of parity and said that as agricultural income rises, government regulations, if he becomes president, will gradually be eliminated.

To administer an REA-like loan program for grain co-ops, he suggested creation of a national feed grain authority. Farmers and small-town grain operators could use the warehouses to store and merchandise their products, he said.

Watchdog Commission
His farm program also included a proposed watchdog commission to "sit in judgment" on federal farm policies.

Wallace had written the Moline speech in advance, something he seldom does—and handed out copies to newsmen traveling with him. Despite the noisy heckling, he started reading it. But he put it aside after several minutes and began reprimanding the students in a balcony to his left.

"You're not making me mad," he shouted, "because you get me votes."

Spotting some bewildered students in the crowd, he quipped: "You've got boll weevils in your beard." Later, he invited them to "come up and I'll autograph your sandals."

Crowd of 6,000

Wallace told his supporters in the audience of almost 6,000: "You can see the condition this country is in. When all of this started, both Mr. Humphrey and Mr. (Richard M.) Nixon endorsed it. Both kowtowed to them."

Most of the audience cheered Wallace and there were some scuffles.

Other sign-carrying students tried to get into the Moline auditorium, but locked doors kept them away. Some threw rocks at police cars.
